100 DEMOCRATS SEEK HARMONY AT ISLE RESORT

Law-makers and Cabinet Members Among First To Attend
Two of Parleys.

as Adjournment Likely To Be Discussed.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.—More than 100 Democrats—including cabinet members and congressmen—arrived here today in a show of good will to start a series of parleys with President Roosevelt at Jefferson Island.

The president himself already had arrived. He had spent the night at Chesapeake Bay aboard the USS Ancon. He went ashore on the island this morning in a small plane.

Monday and Sunday another group of Democrats, equal in number to today's contingent, will go to the island. Individually and in groups, before the picketing and executive and his congressional colleagues.

The informal "harmony" talks between the president and Democratic congressmen may have a bearing on many administrative proposals.

Although party leaders in charge of the week-end meetings at a two-day fishing lodge insisted they were primarily social, some of the Democrats said these subjects might be discussed:

Compromises on the Roosevelt court bill, which the senate will take up next week.

The date of adjournment of congress, forecast by many members as late August.

Details of the wage-hour, government reorganization, housing, farm and other administration.

Because all male Democrats in congress, cabinet members and many other government officials were invited, the party was split into three parts.

Each group will pass only one day at the island, enjoying a buffet luncheon, fishing and refreshments in addition to individual talks with the president.

Despite the split within Democratic ranks over the court bill and time of the other administration measures pending in congress, most of the legislators accepted invitations.

Harmony Party

All but six of Ohio's 24 congressional Democrats prepared to attend President Roosevelt's week-end "harmony" conference on Jefferson Island.

Congressman William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown, representing the Seventeenth district which includes Delaware county, Mr. Ashbrook said he had previously turned a business trip to his home.

Those who plan to attend include Congressman Brooks Fletcher of Marion, Senator Robert J. La Follette of Springfield, representing the seventh district, which includes Union county.

FIREWORKS IN CITY
TABOO, POLICE WARN

Chief Marks Announces Violators
Will Be Prosecuted.

If any ordinances here are violated, Marion this year will celebrate its Fourth of July, at least within the corporation limits.

The ordinance prohibits the sale or use of fireworks within the city, but Chief Marks pointed out that he would not prosecute anyone who goes to everything possible to ensure safety.

Numerous fireworks stands have been set up on the outskirts of the city in the past week, but in everything has been quiet. The use of cap guns and sparklers by small children is usually overlooked by officers who will make an effort to prevent the use of all other fireworks in the city, Chief Marks said.

Floods Threaten Again As Second Rain Storm Strikes Area In Week

HEADS SHRINERS

Walter S. Suggden (above), of Stiversville, W. Va., was elected Imperial potentate at the Shrine convention in Detroit. He was advanced from deputy Imperial potentate.

The second severe rain and electrical storm of the week hit Marion and surrounding counties early today, causing further damage to homes and crops and increasing flood threats along rivers and creeks already driven out of their banks by Sunday night's storm.

Slight damage in Marion resulted from lightning.

Damage done by Sunday night's cloudburst had not been cleared away before the second storm broke about 3 a. m. today, adding to the menace of swollen rivers and creeks near Prospect, Bucyrus, Nevada, LaRue and other points in this area.

A home in Nevada was in danger of being washed away at noon today.

The Scioto river was nearing floodstage at LaRue and Prospect, while reports from Bucyrus described scores of lowland residents preparing to evacuate their homes for the second time this week as heavy rains continued at noon.

50-mile an hour wind and an electrical display even more brilliant than that of last Sunday accompanied the rainstorm, although few reports of lightning damage were received.

Damage Reported

In Marion, Fire Chief T. J. McFarland reported two instances of damage caused by lightning. Firemen from No. 1 and 2 companies were called to the Ohio Market, Inc., store at 312 West Center street, at 7:00 a. m. when a bolt of lightning, apparently traveling over electric wires, ignited and burned an electric motor.

Earlier, a section of the city's fire alarm system was temporarily out of commission after a bolt of lightning blew out several fuses.

The lightning struck about 4:15 a. m. and affected the No. 1 alarm, controlling about 40 alarm boxes in the west and northeast sections of Marion. City firemen located the blown fuses and had the two circuits in operation by 7:30 a. m.

Rainfall here measured 1.7 inches at 6 a. m. with prospects of an all-day downpour.

Officials of the Marion-Reserve Power Co. and the Ohio Associated Telephone Co. here reported numerous cases of blown-out fuses and interrupted service. Repair work was being pushed rapidly, with hopes of restoring all service quickly.

No let-up from the downpour was indicated by the official government weather forecast, which predicted "probably local showers tonight and Saturday, warmer to night."

Near Flood Stage

At Prospect, the Scioto river had reached 9.3 feet before noon, with the flood stage of 10 feet expected to be reached this afternoon. The river level fell about two feet yesterday, rising again this morning.

MEDIATION TRIO STICKS TO JOB WAITING BREAK

Decision Made After Telephone Conference With Secretary Perkins.

HAD INTENDED TO QUIT

Steel Heads Continue Flat
Refusal To Sign Contract With CIO.

By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, O., June 25.—President Roosevelt's federal mediators, after conferring by telephone with Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins, decided to remain on the job today at least until Bethlehem Steel and Inland Steel reply to their appeal for a "man-to-man" peace conference.

The other two of "little steel" four independent operators—Republic Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube—rejected the federal board's plea last night.

The board members announced they would maintain headquarters here even though they had only faint hope that the answer from Bethlehem and Inland steel would differ from those of the other two.

Charles P. Taft II, chairman, left for Cincinnati on personal business but said he would return overnight.

The board, before talking with the labor department chief, had intended to pack up and go home this afternoon.

The board last night appealed to heads of the four companies to sit down with John L. Lewis, head of the CIO and Philip Murray, his steel strike lieutenant, to try to work out a settlement.

Within a few hours after this appeal Republic and Youngstown Sheet & Tube issued statements saying they had told the board all they had to say—that they would make no agreement, written or oral, with Lewis' "irresponsible" CIO.

"We are very sorry," said terse, identical statements of the Republic Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. "We cannot, in justice to our employees, sign a contract with CIO."

This was accepted generally as marking the definite collapse of the board's four-day efforts to find a common ground for mediation of the costly strike.

BOLSTER TESTIMONY
IN IRONTON VOTE QUIZ

Prosecutor Seeking To Strengthen Witnesses' Story of Ballot Changing.

By The Associated Press
IRONTON, O., June 25.—Prosecutor Thomas A. Burke Jr. summoned corroborative witnesses today to bolster Dan C. Klapp's testimony that altered ballots changed the result of last November's Lawrence county commission election.

William C. Dickens, the Republican candidate for Ironton, former county auditor; Wade Webb, former deputy sheriff; and Elizabeth Griffith, former county relief director, are on trial, charged with ballot tampering and breaking into the election board offices.

Klapp, also accused but to be tried later, occupied the stand throughout yesterday's session, telling a story of "scratching" in Dickens' favor, ballots which originally were straight Democratic votes.

The former deputy auditor maintained his story despite a rigorous cross-examination, in which he admitted padding county relief bills for $2,000 and paying off twice as many as $1,000 county bonds.

Klapp testified that he aided Pratt and Mike Griffith in altering more than 200 ballots five days after the election, and said Dickens had negotiated with them before band for such action.

Then, he said, Dickens was informed which precincts had been changed, demanded a recount, and won the office over a Democrat, Harry Bantam, a common pleas court later threw out the recount and gave the office back to Bantam, who since has died.

On the 2,256 mile jump from Lae, New Guinea, to Howland island, longest hop of the entire flight, Miss Earhart will be aided also by the naval tug, Ontario which will stand by at sea.

REVENGE KILLING?

Former Deputy Wash. Inmate of Italian county, Kentucky, "bat" background of a bloody war against union men a year ago was found dead at the wheel of his automobile near Pine Mountain, a bullet through his back.

Federal authorities are investigating to determine whether there is any connection between his murder and his testimony a year ago at the senate investigation into the incident. This photo was taken as he appeared on the stand at the senate hearing.

WARREN, O., June 25.—Two blasts rocked this steel strike center early today, one of them described by a national guard official as an apparent attempt to blow up a patrol car of troops in a "campaign of terrorism."

The bombings occurred on the heels of Gov. Martin L. Davey's order to Ohio's national guard commander to see that steel workers "who want to return to their employment shall enjoy the privileges without being molested."

The first explosion occurred near the gates of the open blast furnace of the Republic Steel Corp. plant and a suspect, described by military officials as a striker, was arrested and held on open charges.

The second was at the South Main street bridge, not far from the plant, when a bomb was thrown from an automobile directly in the path of a moving patrol car containing national guardsmen.

Major H. S. Urbprung, guard official from Berea, O., said a bomb of some kind apparently was aimed at the patrol wagon and exploded just ahead of it in the middle of the highway.

The officers quickly halted their car and fired at the speeding automobile ahead. Urbprung said guardsmen believed it was damaged and an intensive search was made for the fleeing machine.

The automobile used by the bombers was found later, but the three occupants had escaped.

Although four men were arrested in Warren last night, and today for interfering with non-strikers, the "hot-work" employees entered the Republic plant for the 7 a. m. shift without incident.

Two other men were arrested and held for federal authorities in connection with alleged interference of mail deliveries. All six were from Warren.

Mrs. Charlotte Soule, 37, of a mile west of Meeker, on Harding highway, walked into the farmyard Sunday yesterday afternoon, as Sheriff Fred P. Miller and relatives were in that vicinity searching for her. She had been missing since Tuesday noon.

Sheriff Miller said she was placed in care of her relatives and taken to the home of her mother, Mrs. James Clisby, east of Meeker. He said he did not obtain a coherent account of the reason for Mrs. Soule's sudden departure or where she had been during her absence. Her three children have been at her mother's home since Tuesday.

Social Security Office Headed by Marion Man

Robert G. Misch Appointed
District Manager;
School Plans Made.

New developments in the social security setup for Marion and surrounding counties came today with the announcement of the appointment of Robert G. Misch of Ashland as director of the recently established Marion field office and scheduling of a meeting of the Ohio social security institute at Mansfield on July 1 at 1 p. m.

Mr. Misch, formerly agent here for the Prudential Life Insurance Co. for 10 years, was appointed by Benedict C. Powell, regional director of the social security board for Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky. Mr. Misch was also employed by the Erie railroad here. He was educated at the University of Pennsylvania.

The Mansfield office will maintain wide records of employees, receive claims for old age benefits from all counties in its area. The office will also disseminate information regarding social security. The area covered by Marion, Morrow, Wyandot, Crawford, Richland and Ashland counties.

Mr. Misch received his appointment to the social security staff about two months ago and since then has been in Washington, D. C., and Cleveland, attending training schools. He said he expects to continue his residence in Marion at least until fall.

The meeting on July 1 will be open to all interested residents of the counties in the area and also of Huron and Knox counties.

The institute is a traveling school conducted by the regional office. Its staff is made up of representatives of the state board, the Ohio unemployment commission and the federal treasury department. The program which begins at 1 p. m. at the high school auditorium will be in two sessions. The first will consist of addresses and the second will be round tables on technical problems of social security.

RAIL PENSION ACT

President Signs Bill Giving
Railroaders Own Social Security Program.

Approximately 1,000 railroad workers living in Marion were among the 1,500,000 in the nation assured of their own social security system when President Roosevelt signed into law today the revised Railroad Pension Act. Signatures of the act by the President was reported from Washington, D. C. by The Associated Press.

Conforming to an agreement between principal railroad and 21 rail unions, the law provides pensions up to $120 a month for employees retired because of age or disability.

The measure provides for a graduated tax ranging from 54 per cent to 74 per cent in 1940 on railroad pay rolls. The tax is to be levied equally against employers and employees.

Railroad workers were not affected by the social security act that went into effect Jan. 1 this year.

Henry F. Holbrook Dies Suddenly; Was General Manager of Riddell Corp.

By The Associated Press
BUCYRUS, June 25.—Henry F. Holbrook, 54, vice president and general manager of the W. A. Riddell Corp. here, died suddenly last night at 10 after a heart attack at the home of a friend. He died before he could be moved.

Mr. Holbrook, who came here in April, 1931, as general manager of the Riddell Co., took over his present position when the company was reorganized in 1935. He had served as company receiver since May, 1932.

He was one of the pioneers in the manufacture of custom-built motor coaches, organizing the Holbrook Coach Co. in New York City in 1908. During the World War he was in the government service, later joining the National Auto Co. in Dayton.

Mr. Holbrook was a member of the Rotary club, Bucyrus Country club, the Elks lodge and the Episcopalian church.

Mrs. Holbrook will arrive in Marion tonight from New York City. Funeral arrangements have not been made, but it is expected services will be held in the east.

His mother, Mrs. Mary W. Holbrook, lives in Harrison, N. Y.

DAVEY ORDERS SAFETY GUARANTEED FOR ANYONE WHO DOES NOT WORK.

DAVEY ACTS AS MEDIATION FAILS

Governor Declares Law Must Be Upheld and Slaughter of Workers Avoided.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 25.—Ohio's military might swung to the side of non-striking steel workers today as Gov. Martin L. Davey directed nearly 400 national guardsmen to prevent the "holocaust" of "wholesale slaughter" by guaranteeing safety to anyone desiring employment.

The governor's orders, applying to the strike-torn Republic Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., came after what he described as failure of a federal mediation board to settle the 25-day-old dispute with the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee.

The guardsmen have been in the Mahoning valley since June 12, Tuesday morning with instructions to preserve the "status quo" pending peace negotiations. Hereafter the guardsmen have permitted no closed plants to open, but have allowed continued operation of plants already working.

Wants Law Upheld

Today, however, the governor's instruction was amplified.

"We cannot waver," Davey said in a communication to Adjutant Gen. Emil Stark. "Our clear duty is to give every assistance to the local authorities to prevent lawlessness of every description, as it relates to the strike situation, without which wholesale slaughter is almost inevitable. The rights of all citizens must be protected."

The people as a whole maintain the government and make it continuously possible. Government must not abdicate its sovereign powers and responsibility to any who challenge its existence.

The right to work is sacred. The right to strike is equally valid. Those who want to return to their employment will accept the situation without being molested. Those who wish to remain on strike certainly are entitled to do so, and to continue any and all lawful practices.

Order Main Issue

"Law and order are so elemental in their relation to the rights of man and the preservation of organized society that they rise above every other consideration among a free people. The safeguarding of our liberties, individually and collectively, is a priceless heritage for our children and the millions of future Americans yet unborn."

"As the chief executive of Ohio, I look to you to see that this order is carried out with fidelity, calmness, impartiality and firmness. There is no place in your charge the most solemn responsibility that has been given to any public official in these troublous times."

"We will support you with all the power and resources of the state government."

The adjutant general transmitted the order to Major Gen. Gilson D. Fitch, in charge of military operations at Youngstown. A next telephone call was an conference among guard officers, local officials.

SHEET & TUBE INVITES 10,000 BACK TO WORK

Troopers Report About 2,000
Already on Job in Youngstown Plant.

OPERATIONS OPEN TODAY

Davey Tells Soldiers To Protect Men Who Want To Return To Struck Mills.

By The Associated Press
YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 25.—Mr. H. Gilles, vice president of Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., closed four weeks by a strike, said today an immediate call was being sent out inviting 10,000 workers in the huge Campbell plant to return to work at once.

The Mahoning valley plants of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. and Republic Steel Corp. will begin operations on a two shift basis at 7 p. m. tonight.

The Sheet & Tube announcement said that employees would be paid at overtime rates for all time above eight hours.

Charging of the strike events already has started and the plant finances will begin operations as soon as coke becomes available.

Gilles said he could not estimate how many men had already returned to their Sheet & Tube jobs through the troop guarded gates, but said national guard estimates of 2,000 were not accurate.

Gilles made his statement shortly after steel officials, civil authorities and national guard officers had conferred on day. Martin L. Davey's order to provide military protection for men who wanted to return to their jobs in the struck steel plants.

Meanwhile, in Johnstown, Pa., miners pickets peacefully stood up and down at entrances in Bethlehem Steel's Cambria Works.

A projected match of 30,000 miners in the city, however, said Capt. William A. Clark, police supervisor, apparently failed to materialize. But Murray Knapp, strike leader, said 4,000 miners reached the city.

Two bombings rocked the north-east section of Canton, O. The first bomb, said police, slipped out of a section of a spur track of the Wheeling & Lake Erie road, leading into the plant of the Republic Steel Corp.

It was the third railroad bombing in the vicinity since the strike started.

William Webster, Republic employee, reported to police that a blast line off a section of the front of his home and damaged furniture and windows in nearby homes. Two bombings were also reported in Warren.

The U. R. O'Connell Co., one of several plants closed yesterday in Warren as an aftermath of Wednesday's sympathy walkouts resumed normal operations today. It employs 400 men.

The Reinhardt Steel Corp. and the American Welding & Manufacturing Co., employing together about 300, remained closed.

Five hundred workers at the Sheet & Tube Products Co. at Niles, continued an eight day holiday, which will last until Monday. Van Houten, Tube Corp. officials, which also closed declined to make any statement.

C. R. Wheeler, assistant to the Warren-Niles district manager for Republic, said delivery of food by plane had been discontinued and that suppliers were bringing it into the plant "any way they can."

Report All's Quiet

Wheeler reported everything quiet. The CIO strike committee at Warren reassured the government it would not stir the strike in a state of lawlessness.

"The strike is still on. We haven't lost a man. The picket line is at full strength. The CIO has yet to be stopped and we know that is

RURAL SOLONS BLOCK RELIEF

Prospects for Action This Session Not Bright Despite Pleas of City Lawmakers.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 23 — Prospects of the legislature taking any action at the present special session on the matter of relief are not heartening for the large industrial counties where the need for state assistance is most pronounced.

While there is considerable sentiment among the lawmakers for handling the relief problem at this session, particularly among members from the large industrial areas, the rural membership generally lacks enthusiasm on the subject.

Many rural members hold the view that some of the larger counties have not yet purged their rolls of "chiselers" to the extent they should before the state lends a helping hand.

The rural contingent also contends that local subdivisions have not yet exhausted their resources in handling relief since the state withdrew its support last spring and, therefore, are able to finance their own needs for some time yet.

The Ohio League of Municipalities, contending a virtually every city in the state had exhausted all possible sources for relief funds decided yesterday to ask Gov. Dacey to open the current special session to relief legislation.

Representatives of some cities reported these requirements for the last half of this year: Dayton $200,000; Springfield $100,000; Sandusky $30,000.

HOME MADE MACHINE SMALL BUT SPEEDY

Scrap Automobile Goes Ninety Miles an Hour; Costs $565.

WABASH, Ind.—Using a heterogeneous collection of parts from various makes of cars, Fred Aukerman, former garage mechanic, has revolutionized local automotive engineering with construction of his "Lilliputian Special" capable of a speed of 90 miles an hour and 60 miles on a gallon of gasoline.

The diminutive auto—only one of its kind, built to such exacting specifications—weighs 550 pounds, has room only for one passenger, and required two years to build at a cost to Aukerman of approximately $565.

12 Horsepower Engine.
The engine of the tiny machine—of 12 horsepower strength—is a cosmopolitan affair, according to its creator.

Facts in a technical review of the "Lilliputian Special" include: Two-and-a-half inch road clearance; a 3 1/2 inch tread; 79 cubic inches engine displacement; 140 pounds compression per cylinder (the average car has 120 pounds); gear ratio of one and three-fourths to one; which is the number of times the engine turns over in ratio to the number of times the wheel turns (on the average car, it is four to one), and the tires are 8x400, whereas the average is 16x1600.

Chassis Can Be Adjusted.
It is one of the few automobiles on which the driver can adjust the car, center and to-in on the front axle. The chassis can be adjusted one inch in either direction from the center.

The rear wheels run with one-sixteenth of an inch toe-in and the front wheels run with one-sixteenth of an inch toe-out. The frame was made from sheet steel, shaped by Aukerman. Nine-millimeter spark plugs are used in the tiny engine.

As to the brakes, they are full-floating, one-adjustment affairs. One touch of the finger on the brake lever will slide both rear wheels. The brakes have molded lining three-sixteenths by one inch.

THREE ARE FINED ON CONDUCT CHARGE

Three persons, two men and a woman, were arrested by police at 8:22 o'clock this morning at a West Center street restaurant on a charge of disorderly conduct after the trio allegedly engaged in an altercation. Arrested were Barbara Rosbrook, 26, who gave her address as near Peoria, O., Franklin Stahner, 24, of 520 Thompson street and Eddie Burke, 43, of 141 1/2 South State street.

The three pleaded guilty at arraignment in municipal court this morning. Each was fined $10 and costs and the woman's fine was suspended. Police said they did not learn the nature of the quarrel.

DRAKES LOSE TO MANSFIELD TEAM

Drake's Tavern softball team suffered its first defeat in seven games last night when the club was downed, 6 to 3, by the Prospect Park club of Mansfield in a game played in that city. The Marion team was scheduled to play tonight on the Prospect diamond with the Gallon Metalite Vauld club. The score by innings of yesterday's game follows:

Drake's Tavern: 100 001 100—3 12 2
Mansfield: 220 100 10—6 9 3

A large attendance is expected at the interdenominational revival meeting tonight at 8 at the Chautauqua pavilion when Dr. H. H. Savage of the First Baptist church of Pontiac, Mich., will preach. Dr. Savage is widely known as a radio speaker and evangelist. He broadcasts a Sunday school lesson each week and a weekly Sunday night program, "The Happy Half-Hour" for Home and Heaven. Dr. Savage is sponsor of a series of Bible conferences each summer at the Maranatha conference grounds, formerly the Lake Harbor Bible conference grounds at Lake Harbor, Mich.

Evangelist L. T. Merchant of Centerville, Ala., will lead congregational singing tonight. Mrs. David Spiller who has done religious singing throughout the country and who was at a member of the Billy Sunday party, will sing several songs. Last night Rev. Marvin who is in charge of the meeting preached from the text, "14:12 'So then every one shall give account of his God.'" "Everyone means it," he stated, "It means the skeptic, the man and everyone else." One person responded to the service will be held at night at 8. The revival will with services Sunday at 2 p. m.

SCHOOL CLEANING PROGRAM MAPPED

County Board Prepares To Set Up WPA Project in Rural Buildings.

Decision to give the 14 rural schools in Marion county a thorough renovation inside and out, provided the several local school boards approve, was made yesterday by the county board of education as it sanctioned a $15,393 WPA cleaning project. The action was taken at a regular board meeting at the office of Supt. D. T. Mills in the Leetonia building. Each local school board must now agree to the project before it becomes effective. The work may either employ 30 women from six to eight months or about 45 women for a shorter period. The work will be started late this summer if possible and can be carried on in the fall while school is in session, WPA officials said.

Women will do all the work which will include scrubbing of walls and ceilings, window sills, cleaning of floors, washing windows and desks.

The materials for the work must be furnished by the local boards and labor will be supplied by WPA.

The board also paid monthly bills. A check from the state school foundation for $3,160 for the expenses of county school administration was received. It represents the payment for the last six months of this year.

The next meeting will be at 8:30 p. m. on July 22.

GIRDLER TESTIFIES AT SENATE POSTOFFICE COMMITTEE HEARING

Tom Girdler (extreme right, hand over back of chair), chairman of the board of Republican Steel, bitterly condemned John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization when he testified before the Senate Postoffice committee investigating delay in delivering mail to strike-closed steel plants. He said he considered Philip Murray, Lewis' ally, "a liar" and that Senator Joseph Guffey, of Pennsylvania, "doesn't know what he's talking about."

TALLY HO MEMBERS REUNION SATURDAY

Plans are being completed today for the second annual reunion of the Tally Ho club, a social organization of young men which had its headquarters in the old Grand Opera House building on South State street, a number of years ago. Saturday night, at Eaglewood club, approximately 20 of the members, who numbered about 20, have made reservations for the dinner which will be at 6:30. The remainder of the evening will be spent socially.

Arrangements for the affair are in charge of a committee headed by Charles Sechrist, general chairman.

TRUCK DRIVEN BY MARIONITE IN CRASH

William Coffey, 23, of 334 Park boulevard narrowly escaped injury when a transport truck and semi-trailer turned over in a ditch, five miles south of Waldo on state route 23, last night about 10 o'clock, according to a report of highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station.

The accident occurred when a motorist, who did not stop, crowded the truck off the highway. Coffey told patrolmen. Coffey was south-bound and the truck turned over on its side in a ditch at the west side of the highway. Damage to the truck and trailer was estimated at $500. Coffey is employed by the Commercial Motor Freight Co.

NEW DEALERS VISION COURT BILL VICTORY

Claim Enough Votes for Compromise but Foes Say They Can't Win.

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 25.—Administration leaders today claimed enough senate votes today to approve a compromise on the Roosevelt court bill.

Opposition leaders, however, said they would permit none of the compromises now being discussed to come to a vote. They said there was a good chance for the entire issue to be decided.

Leaders of the administration fight said they had a minimum of 54 votes lined up for a compromise authorizing the President to appoint new justices to the supreme court at the rate of one a year for each incumbent over 75.

They conceded they would face a filibuster on such a proposition, but declared they would be able to break it.

The court bill is scheduled to come up late next week.

The court proposal was foreseen among several questions expected to come up for discussion during "harmony" talks between President Roosevelt and Democrats in Congress during the weekend.

MARION MEN GO TO AUTO CLUB MEETING

St. E. Baldwin, secretary of the Marion Auto club, and L. A. Ace, president, left early this morning with their wives to attend the thirty-seventh annual convention of the Ohio State Automobile association in Cleveland. They will return to Marion late Saturday.

An address by Chief Justice Carl V. Weyand of the Ohio supreme court was to be given at a banquet tonight. The Associated Press reported.

PARK STAGES MARVELS

Among the attractions being installed in the Central park of culture and rest at Moscow, Russia, is a "boulevard of marvels," operated by photo-electric cells. As the visitor approaches them, doors open and fountains begin to spout. If he asks to hear a waltz an unseen hand will play it. If he tries to take a flower out of a vase an alarm will ring. A watch vanishes as he attempts to pick it up from a table. Many other "wonders" are being devised.

MARION EAGLES QUARTET TO BROADCAST AT CLEVELAND

Leaving today for Cleveland to attend the annual state convention of Eagles are members of the Buckeye quartet, above, of Buckeye Aerle No. 337, F. O. E. The ensemble will take part in an entertainment to be broadcast from the Great Lakes exposition grounds Sunday evening as a part of the festivities of Eagles day, which will be observed at the exposition Sunday. The quartet also will take part in the convention program. Members of the group are, left to right, John P. McAndrew, A. A. Ward, N. G. Irvin and Howard Orr. Paul Molloy, seated, is the accompanist.

Hack, shot and killed at her home in Westfield township on the night of Sunday, April 18.

Prosecuting Attorney Nelson Campbell said today that he can give no further information other than the present investigation may result in an arrest in the near future. "Any further statement would be premature and might result in the murderer escaping," Campbell said.

TRUCK CRASHES NEAR MARYSVILLE

MARYSVILLE, June 25.—Failure to negotiate a curve from the Kenton road into Elwood Thursday resulted in a bakery delivery truck from Columbus crashing into an iron pole, knocking down two gasoline pumps and badly damaging another pump in front of John Morris's Horsehoe bend filling station.

The truck driver, Leroy Hodges of Bridgeville, was hurled from the cab and suffered a knee injury and cuts and bruises. The driverless truck then careened crazily and rolled over several times before coming to a stop about 40 feet from the pumps.

What Mr. Girdler Has Done.

Tom M. Girdler, whatever you may think of him or like him, has done one thing for labor: he has organized and unorganized.

He has pointed an accusing finger at the weakest places in the theory of unionism and has kept it pointed in spite of hell, high water, the Wagner act and the general well being of himself and his own enterprise.

Why is this beneficial?

Because every thinking person in the United States including the politicians and labor leaders who are trying to hammer Tom Girdler into submission knows there is something phony about the sudden corruption that organized labor is 100 percent perfect and management is 100 percent imperfect.

None of Mr. Girdler's contemporaries in the field of management believe that a true but until he lifted his voice in protest no one paid much attention to what employee a publicly thought about their rights under the new labor relations act.

Perhaps it is true as someone has said that Mr. Girdler has made himself the white hope of reactionary forces. It is no reaction to insist that labor unions holding contracts should be responsible for keeping the contracts that unions should be held accountable for the money they collect and that industrial democracy means nothing unless it means rule by a majority, then a strong dose of reaction must be what the country needs to cure the glandiness it has been having.

Tom Girdler's method may be harsh it may be unfair to organized labor, and it certainly is a shock after the rosy greasy and soothing crap which have been rubbed on and poured into the American people lately, but its beginning to produce results—just like a mustard plaster applied hot and strapped on tight.

Slipped Through.

There was no roll call as the senate approved a $150,000,000 appropriation for relief during the next fiscal year. The bill slipped through, as everybody knew it would when the right time came.

Certain interesting amendments were offered.

Sen. Lodge, Republican of Massachusetts proposed that $20,000,000 be set aside for an employment census. That was voted down 45 to 50.

Sen. Bridge, Republican of New Hampshire proposed that the appropriation be reduced to $100,000,000. That was rejected.

Sen. Vandenberg, Republican of Michigan wanted to give $150,000,000 to the states letting them administer relief, instead of leaving it in the control of the federal government. His amendment was turned down.

Here were three proposals offered by opposition senators each driving directly at the manner in which a Democratic administration has been using public money to control the dependence and gratitude of the unfortunate in Washington at the expense of the political prestige of the states.

Thereupon arose Sen. Connally, Democrat of Texas whose congressional career dates back to World War days when states rights will mean something to a southern Democrat. If the federal government is going to administer relief, he thundered, then the government ought to keep its hands off the purse strings.

New times new notions, oh senator.

Alone on an Island.

Socially and politically this is going to be an important week-end. In three separate groups, Democratic congressmen will go on three separate days from Washington to an island in Chesapeake Bay.

There they will see the leaders of their party—the President of the United States. He will call them by their first name, make jokes with them mingle with the crowd and be the extremely pleasant gentleman he is capable of being.

He will try to win friends and influence people, in the best modern manner. His legislative program is scrapping the rocks. Congressmen are restless and grouchy. They are getting tired of taking orders from the White House and even more tired of taking orders via the White House, from various unknown sources.

These are all things which need to be fixed. That's why President Roosevelt will be on an island in Chesapeake Bay Friday Saturday and Sunday, and why the congressmen will go to visit him there—all, except those who already have gone too far to make up.

There's just one thing wrong with the

Vigilantism, CIO Counter Force

BY DOROTHY THOMSON

JOHN L. LEWIS is being held responsible for releasing forces which he is capable to control. It will be responsible for the counter forces which are also loose and which may prove eventually even more difficult to control.

I have on my desk a "Warning" issued June 7, ostensibly by a group called "The Vigilantism and Anti-Organized Crime Committee." It is a letter to the blood of the founding fathers still courses through the veins of millions of Americans and then tells us what those with that blood are preparing to do.

The Key-Men of the Vigilantism and Anti-Organized Crime Committee, a group of men who are ready to respond when called. These men have already received instructions and could converge upon any designated point in overwhelming numbers.

When the time comes no quarter or consideration will be shown to the traitors to American democracy. Methods will be ruthless and swift and sure for when we start we must at any cost rid the nation of the subversive elements who today think they are riding the crest of the wave.

In this amazing document the President and Mr. Lewis are described as Public Enemy Number One and Two and the Vigilantism threaten Mr. Lewis with appropriate action that will let loose the dogs of civil war. They threaten that if legislation now proposed in Washington passes "an indignant army of citizens will be taking things into their own hands."

When the zero hour arrives there will be no polite knocking upon doors. We will arrive in unannounced and efficient numbers. We are knocking and receiving daily the subversive and radical elements. We do not want the innocent to suffer with the guilt.

I do not know who sent out this warning and threat of insurrection which has been received by numerous members of Congress but it testifies to a pattern of behavior which is not new. Just now the working classes think that they are very strong. They have a friendly government with a large majority, they have a relief at their back, and they have a general economic situation favorable to the demands they make upon industry. Their right to organize themselves into trade unions is secured to them in law. Now, or never, they think, is the time to push ahead, occupy new positions, take new salaries.

They are under no illusions about the general benevolence of many of the employers. They know that most American industrialists are friendly to the cause of the worker, but they are not so friendly to the cause of the trade unionism, and that in principle they are way behind those that have evolved for years in all democratic countries such as England and Sweden.

But if their leaders and political fellow-travelers allow them to continue to resort to violence and if counter-violence flames up in the middle classes and begins to organize itself, a struggle develops to be settled in the arena of force, this column fears greatly for the workers.

For the middle class is overwhelmed by the struggle which is in this country, as it proved to be in Germany. It is strongest numerically and psychologically. Numerically because hundreds of thousands of workers who are somewhat above the general level own homes, run automobiles and cling tenaciously to the hope of bettering their condition individually and lifting their children by education into clerical positions or professions, associate their ultimate interests with the employer.

Psychologically, because the middle classes feel themselves superior because they associate Americanism with their own prejudices and their own interior because they believe that their superior position is earned because they believe that the masses of unskilled workers are of alien extraction and therefore tainted with foreign ideas. And ever physically they are in a superior position. They have been better fed, better housed, better trained. They have been organized longer—in clubs, chambers of commerce, athletic teams, trade groups. The combination of firmly held convictions that God, the Constitution and the Best Stock are on their side have all the elements of a Holy Crusade of extreme ruthlessness and if any one doubts it let him look at General Franco and Hitler.

Fears for Crusade

This column does not believe for an instant that this country is threatened by a Red revolution, such apprehensions as it has are quite otherwise. It fears that continued disorder, in which the law does not function firmly may call into being such a crusade. And it genuinely fears that crusade. For that crusade and any forces which might suppress it would destroy the Constitution no less certainly than the reddest of Red revolutions. That part of the Constitution devoted to Americans the ten amendments constituting the Bill of Rights, would be wiped off the record.

Not only that a course would be halted and reversed which if it proceeds with a maximum of statesmanship is wholly benevolent. Masses of unskilled workers have remained too long outside the pattern of American life. They are in many parts of the country, atrociously housed in out large municipalities they have been cynically manipulated by the machine of both major parties for interests not their own. In our legislatures and congress they have been without adequate representation. Their weak attempt to organize has been sabotaged both by the employers and by the craft unions representing the aristocracy of labor. They have been bullied and assailed by the police. They have been unopposed against unemployment and early retirement from machine industry which favors the young. They have been exploited by high-pressure salesmanship. And now it looks as though they were being urged into a dangerous fight by crack-brained people who call themselves their friends.

What is needed at this moment is wisdom and coolness. All the good will available and discipline on both sides. If Mr. Girdler becomes the rallying point for vigilantism I for one do not envy him his role in history.

Thirty-three years have passed since that memorable night off Port Arthur when General Stessel died at the beginning of the Russo-Japanese war, and my three brother officers of that adventure have almost all passed away.

picture. Every congressman knows by this time exactly what it is all about. The whole thing is going to be about as much fun as pretending to enjoy a loaded cigar.

A Game—An Old One.

The first week of the tax investigation disclosed nothing but a few names and the fact that men with serious enough to have taxable incomes aren't likely to contribute any more to the new deals spending spree than the law requires them to contribute.

Maybe things will liven up the second week. If there is going to be a show it will have to begin to take shape soon.

By admission of officials the investigation is intended to be a show nothing more. The treasury overestimated income tax revenue by $100,000,000 and is trying to cover up its mistake. Instead of figuring out where it made its mistake it is blaming taxpayers for not paying more.

Regardless of what it is supposed to be the investigation looks like a game which nearly every citizen old enough to read has played or has seen played before. When politicians want to keep something from being looked at, they "finish something else."

It is not known yet what, if anything, is being hidden. But the public has caught on and its eyes are wide open. No one is going to be caught napping if he can help it.

CIO Must Make Contracts Valid

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, June 23—President Roosevelt and Secretary Perkins have before them in conference the question of how to make the CIO unions responsible for the contracts they sign. He has heard the scores of an interesting drama of conflict between the administration and CIO is developing.

Just a few days ago it was announced from Detroit that Homer Martin, head of the CIO's automobile union, had begun negotiations with the General Motors Co. for modification of the existing contract when it expires in a few weeks. These parties are now going on in the hands of the General Motors Co. After the experience it has had with violated contracts will agree to an extension of the present contract without demanding some safeguards of a binding character.

Since President Roosevelt himself intervened in the General Motors strike and Secretary Perkins insisted to the motor company executives that the John Lewis unions would live up to their contracts, the question now arises as to what the administration has to say about the record of unauthorized strikes which has been built up over the last four months by the CIO unions.

Although the contract speedily provided that there was not to be any strikes or interruptions and all grievances were to be taken up through the committees specially constituted for the purpose, the General Motors plants have suffered a separate stoppage under such circumstances. It would not be surprising if the General Motors officials decided that a contract with the CIO is not worth the paper it is written on and that henceforth their position must be made identical with that of the independent steel companies which are refusing to sign any contracts with CIO.

Lack of Discipline

Should such a situation develop it would be most regrettable because it would indicate that after all the millions of dollars of economic loss in Michigan due to the sit-down strike and the final consummation of an agreement through the intervention of the President of the United States and the governor of Michigan, such a thing as labor discipline is so lacking as to render the recent efforts of Mr. Roosevelt as well as his secretary of labor absolutely futile.

The relationship between the negotiations going on between General Motors officials and Homer Martin on the one hand and the strikes in Ohio and Pennsylvania between the CIO unions and the steel companies on the other becomes closer and closer as the experience in the motor in-

Congress Fine Tax Loophol

Members Do a Little "Evil" on the Side

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON, June 23—Impressions of huddles of congressmen were that the day was serving them a dish of "evil" as part of the supposed exciting tax evasion story.

It is true they expected the headlines with those few words of a yacht and those few arranged to pay each other's "services" which might be deducted as office expenses to come tax.

But the question of the day allowance for all wells might have been the subject of the "tax" was set up in 1913. So the "tax" was the question of the day. It came between husband and wife, certain "communal" property states, and the business of some holding companies as old as time.

No I wonder if on the hill would have a "hooking" it up about certain schemes for escaping taxes such as incorporating years, founding new insurance companies for hiding earnings, the house members a "house" of a bad conference.

Only a day ago, the "tax" was the question of the day. It came between husband and wife, certain "communal" property states, and the business of some holding companies as old as time.

It goes back to this Congress help support the city of Washington since a handsome part of the city is publicly owned and no subject to property taxes. One year ago agreed to pay up 40 percent of the city. But no one put up and the taxpayer of the city have had to make up the difference.

Just like other growing Washington has its trouble with revenue and this year was no exception. So it arranged a congressional committee which as sort of town council in the district to impose an income tax. Since it is Golden.

A day was set apart for considering the new district tax. The house and no particularly brought it squarely before members of congress. It was a routine vote on the bill subject to the tax.

They voted 227 to 75 against considering it such a bill was sent back to the committee with instructions to knock an income tax out of a revenue act.

If your congressman does not about against the evasive maneuvers as loudly as you should keep in mind the "tax" was the question of the day. It came between husband and wife, certain "communal" property states, and the business of some holding companies as old as time.

KIWANIS HEARS HEALTH TALK

State Doctor Enlists Support in Nationwide Campaign Against Syphilis.

Dr. P. L. Harris of the state department of health in Columbus tonight a message entitled, "For Our Sakes," to members of the Kiwanis club at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Columbus Hotel.

His brief introduction preceded a 30-minute motion picture, produced by the American Hygiene association at New York City, as a part of a nationwide campaign to stamp out syphilis.

Dr. Harris pointed out the three main objectives of the health authorities in conducting the public campaign—to get the cooperation of physicians in reporting syphilis cases, provide an adequate cure and educate the people in the nature and cure of the disease. "False notions, unreasoning prejudice and ignorance have permitted the affliction to spread through all walks of life and only recently organized forces have come out in the fight against it," Dr. Harris said.

Statistics Given
Approximately six and one-half million people, or one out of 20, in the United States are afflicted with the disease, Dr. Harris asserted. Every year the death toll attributed to it numbers 100,000 persons, he said. Since last October when the informative picture which Kiwanis members saw yesterday, was released, it has been shown to about 75,000 people in Ohio. Harris pointed to the success of Denmark in the fight against the disease by telling his audience that in 1919, 56,000 cases were reported each year in Denmark. Last year after 16 years of public campaigning against it, only 431 cases were reported, he said.

Funds are now available through the state health department, Dr. Harris said, to supply the necessary drugs to cure the disease. Where formerly aid was offered only to indigents, the department will furnish physicians with the drugs for all cases, provided they are reported to health authorities.

children in most cases," Dr. Harris told his listeners. Pointing to the severity of the disease he said that it is estimated that 15 per cent of the blindness and 35 per cent of the insanity cases can be traced to syphilis. The most important step in treating the victim is to get the cases under medical care at the earliest possible time.

The talking picture also portrayed briefly the work done in fighting tuberculosis which in 1930 was the leading cause of death. At the turn of the century tuberculosis caused 200,000 deaths annually and since the public campaign against it, the disease last year was reduced by 67 per cent of that figure, according to statistics in the talking picture. Similarly, the fight against syphilis is getting under way, and results will be measured in exact ratio to amount of cooperation health authorities receive, the movie story asserted.

Dr. Harris presented his talk and the motion picture before the Kiwanis club through arrangements made by Dr. N. Siffrin, county health commissioner. Dr. Siffrin introduced the speaker.

Marion Man Wins Recognition With Unusual Hobby of Cactus Raising

Cactus raising—a hobby which anyone could ride but which Marion does—has gained recognition in the home of George Burry at 319 Adams street, where the cactus is raised in a garden containing nearly 100 plants, probably more than found in any other place in the city.

Burry owns what he calls the only queen cactus or "cactus" in Marion. It is a large, spiny cactus, which he has named "Queen." It is a variety of the "elephant ear" variety, consisting of six ears about the size of a dinner plate, and totaling about five feet in height.

Burry is regularly employed as a watchman at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on Silver street, but spends usually about two hours a day in his cactus garden. Mrs. Burry tends the garden when he is away.

Painstaking Task
Raising the desert plants is an expensive but a painstaking task. When the plants are small, he says, Mr. Burry sells a few occasionally when a visitor comes to buy them and there are a few visitors. For the most part, however, he raises the cactus for pleasure.

"Almost anyone could do it with a little effort," he said. "The only thing you need are a bed of sand and two or three inches deep and a layer of black soil mixed with sand."

The young plants are placed in the sand and watered occasionally. During the winter they must be transplanted and may be kept safely in the house or any other building where cold will not affect them. Mr. Burry said, he usually waters them about once every two weeks, but estimated they could live through an entire winter without moisture.

The usual garden cactus is not the giant variety often pictured on the desert, but are small—some no larger than a golf ball. The largest that Mr. Burry has is one of the "elephant ear" variety, consisting of six ears about the size of a dinner plate, and totaling about five feet in height.

Grows in Sections
Cacti have one of the most unusual methods of growing of any plant. Mr. Burry said, instead of growing in a single stalk and then branching out as does the usual plant, the cactus grows

CARDINGTON WOMAN SPEAKS AT BEECH

SPECIAL TO THE STAR
BEECH, June 25—Mrs. A. A. Morton of Cardington gave a talk on "The Work at the Marysville Reformatory" at the Ladies Aid society meeting of the Rural Salem Evangelical church Wednesday at the home of Mrs. G. H. Glauner of the Bethel community east of Beech.

Mrs. H. H. Klinefelter conducted a short business meeting in the afternoon. The devotionals were given by Mrs. C. A. Hanley. There were around 39 in attendance with a number of the ladies of the Bethel community as guests. At the noon hour cafeteria dinner was served and the day spent in quilting.

MANFIELD PLANT TO OPEN
By The Associated Press
MANFIELD, O., June 25—Ben Shaffer, president of the Dominion Electric Manufacturing Co., closed by a strike since June 9, said it would reopen today under a one year "compromise" contract.

When John Brady, aged two, fell into a 10-foot manhole containing water, at Clones, Irish Free State, Dolores Davey, aged eight, saved his life by seizing him by the hair, a rescuer finding Dolores exhausted, but still gripping the boy's hair.

in one place for a short time, then a bud appears on the original place and develops into a second unit equal in size to the first.

The elephant ear is one of the most typical. If an ear is broken off and planted in the sand, it will grow for a while, then another ear will grow from the first ear with no visible stalk. The two ears are joined only over small area.

Mr. Burry became interested in the hobby four years ago while visiting relatives in California and brought back a few of the plants to Marion. Since then he has made another trip to California and two to Colorado for the plants. His rock garden in which he beds his plants is made of rocks from 34 states—granite from Colorado, petrified wood from California, volcanic rocks from various eastern states and acres of other varieties. One came from 1,500 feet underground, having been blown to the surface from an oil well.

Last fall Mr. Burry built a green house to keep his cacti in during the winter. The building measures about 10 by 20 feet.

He is now experimenting with grafting different varieties to produce unusual effects and has successfully grafted several new combinations. Cacti take well to grafting, being a readily growing plant once started, he said.

Cactus Blooms Colorful
To most eastern people, a cactus is an ugly, spine-filled plant suggesting rattlesnakes—but Mr. Burry says the blooms on his plants are more beautiful than most flowers common to this climate.

Delicate hues of all kinds can be had from the cactus in his collection. The night blooming cereus is kept in the house to prevent wind damage. It blooms about once a year, the flower growing out of the side of a leaf, not from the stalk as usual. From the time the bud appears, about nine days elapse before the bud blooms. The bloom comes in the evening and dies before morning.

The names of some of the varieties grown by Mr. Burry are: A. Smith, fish hook, star, hedgehog, rat tail, prony rubber, wolf, crown of thorns. The usual type costs from 25 to 35 cents.

Why does a cactus have thorns?—to protect it from being eaten by animals, Mr. Burry says. Another interesting use of the thorns is found in the nesting habits of deer which make a nest for their young by tramping down the cactus plants. A ring of thorns is left on the outside to protect the young from other animals, Mr. Burry said.

Once a cactus plant gets started, it is extremely hardy, Mr. Burry said. A plant can be pulled from the ground and left for a month in the sun, then planted again successfully. The hotter the sun, the better they grow, he said.

Also Has Kennels
Mr. Burry is also operator of a dog kennel in which he usually has about 15 animals. He specializes in Spitz but has a Great Dane and a Mexican hairless also. At present there are five black combination Spitz and Chow pups, five weeks old; and seven white Spitz about three weeks old.

Mr. Burry formerly lived at Mt. Victory and LaRue, coming here in 1920.

Of interest to farmers will be the practice, fairly common in the west, of growing spineless cactus plants for cattle feed. A cactus specialist in California after years of experimenting was able to grow a cactus without the spines, Mr. Burry said. One of these varieties is in the garden here.

The plants are not only nourishing to cattle, but also supply considerable water for thirsty desert animals, Mr. Burry said.

Another use to which certain of the plants are put is making a fermented beverage of extreme po-teency from their juices and pulp. Mr. Burry said.

A confirmed hobbyist, Mr. Burry also has a coin collection mostly gathered during the five years from 1915 to 1920 when he was a street car motorman in Toledo.

"The boys were just coming back from the war about that time and foreign coins were dumped into the fare boxes several times a day. I always took them out and substituted American coins."

Rain Curtails Supply of Homegrown Produce Here

Supplies of homegrown produce to reach Marion markets this summer are expected to be considerably curtailed by recent heavy rains, dealers said today. Many fields of melons, potatoes, berries and the like are under water and the crops beyond salvage, they said. Rain last night and today is expected to further aggravate the condition.

Despite these conditions, shipments of homegrown produce are still coming to the market, much of the supply being of choice quality and selling as far as good prices. Homegrown gooseberries are among the newer articles and are quoted as being reasonably priced.

Homegrown peas and green beans are plentiful. Strawberries from patches in this vicinity have about reached the end of their season, dealers said, drenching rains having cut the crop quite a bit and hastened the season's end.

BY HELEN ROWLAND

THE INQUISITIVE SEX
"It is man's inordinate inquisitiveness," says a prominent English scientist, "which is responsible for all the progress of the world." Which, of course, means all the discoveries and inventions, including the North Pole, sex-suspensers and terminators.

How then did we women get the reputation for being the over-curious sex—the prying, ever-questioning sex? Eve may have taken the first bite of the apple, but it is a well-known fact that Adam swallowed the rest of it so greedily that it stuck in his throat.

As far as a woman is concerned, the North Pole, the South Pole and the Equator might have stayed there, forever, and she would never have bothered to look for them. Unless, of course, she suspected that her husband was hanging around one of them, with a blonde. No little girl ever asked as many questions in a week as a small boy can ask in a half hour. And if you will glance over the curious crowd around an excavation or a demonstrator's window or a taxicab accident, you will find at least 10 men to one woman trying to "see what's going on."

A man is always taking his watch or his gun or his car or the laundry apart to "see how it works." But a woman doesn't care how the radio or the vacuum-cleaner or the electric clock works—just so it keeps on working.

The difference between the sexes is that a woman is perfectly frank about her curiosity, while a man always tries to camouflage his with some more noble purpose such as that "I'm only interested in your welfare" attitude, which every man assumes when he wants to find out what a woman has been doing.

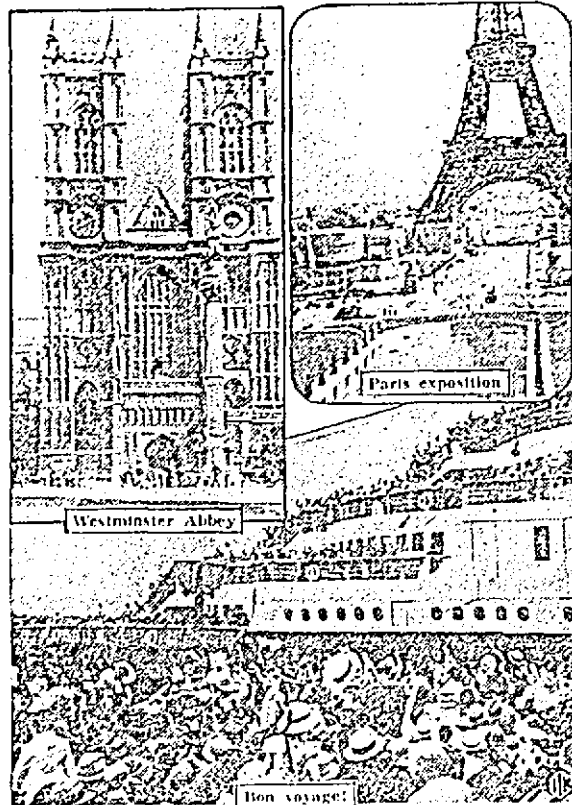

When a woman wants to know what's in a suspicious-looking man's envelope which she has found in her husband's pocket, she deliberately opens it and reads it. But a man just eases around and leans tenderly over his wife's shoulder to "see what Mother has to say."

So long as there is plenty of money coming in and her husband gives her all she wants, a woman never asks a man what he does with the rest of his salary. It's his, isn't it? But could any man let a woman handle her own money without putting her through a questionnaire and demanding to know what she'd done with it?

Of course, a woman always wants to know where a man is, where he's been, where he's going, what he's doing and if he still loves her. That's how she got her reputation for curiosity.

But a woman is curious only about the things that concern her heart, her vanity and her happiness, whereas a man is curious about everything. And he is never satisfied until he finds out "what"

U. S. Tourist Army Invades Europe by The Thousands

International News Service

NEW YORK—With the vacation season now at its peak, travel agencies are enjoying the biggest rush of tourist business since the halcyon days before the crash of 1929.

Although thousands are taking to the highways in United States, and armies of sightseers are invading Canada and Mexico, the most noticeable increase is in the number who are going to Europe.

It is estimated that approximately 30,000 will cross the Atlantic in June. The 1937 season got away to a good start because of the early crossings made by thousands who were drawn to London to witness the coronation. State department figures reveal that 33,200 Americans were issued passports in May. The extent of this rush is apparent when it is recalled that only about 15,000 went "across the big pond" in May of last year.

One of the principal objectives on the itinerary of the American tourist is the Paris exposition, now in full swing. This international makes the wheels go "round." After all, Paul Pry was a man!

The difference seems to be mainly this—that when a man is inquisitive it is a "thirst for knowledge," whereas when a woman is inquisitive it is just "nosiness." (Copyright, 1937, by K. P. S. Inc.)

exhibit is staged on an impressive scale and represents an industrial and artistic review of 42 different countries.

New York supplies the largest number of foreign-bound travelers, accounting for 35 per cent of the total. Analysis of the records indicates that residents of coastal cities are more travel-conscious than those inland.

American housewives are the most traveled of any one class of persons. They make up 14 per cent of the total, and indirectly account for an additional number in that their travel urge is probably responsible for the sea-going plans of other members of the family.

When schools close for summer vacation it is the signal for a sharp increase in European travel since students and teachers comprise a goodly percentage of those boarding the transatlantic ferries. Better than 20 per cent of the Americans journeying abroad this summer are either students or teachers.

The rush abroad and the amazing increase in the number from United States who are visiting Canada and Mexico reflects a systematic and organized effort on the part of United States' neighbors to get their share of U. S. tourist dollars. Canada expects 500,000 visitors this season and Mexico is anticipating playing host to a record number, also.

More than 61 per cent of El Salvador's new coffee crop has been exported to the United States.

PROBERS SPLIT OVER CALLING OF FARLEY

Republican Wants Cabinet Member To Testify as to Mailed Food Ban.

By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 25—Members of a senate committee investigating the steel strike argued among themselves today whether Postmaster General Farley should be summoned to testify.

Sen. Bridges, Republican of New Hampshire, said he would repeat his demand for Farley's appearance, despite indications that administration supporters would back Chairman McKellar, Democrat of Tennessee, in insisting that Bridges first say what he wants to ask the postmaster general.

After hearing testimony yesterday on Republic Steel policy and police versions of the Memorial day disorders in Chicago, Bridges and McKellar disagreed heatedly on future procedure.

"You're trying to run this committee," the chairman shouted at the flushed Bridges, "and I won't let you."

The argument over calling Farley arose after W. W. Howe, assistant postmaster general, said Farley had had little or nothing to do with the immediate strike-mail policy.

Chairman Tom Glavin of Republic Steel, testifying yesterday, called John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization an "irresponsible, racketeering, violent communistic body." He said he would not sign an agreement with the CIO unless it was compelled to do so by law.

Capt. James L. Mooney of the Chicago police, describing the May 30 riot in which 10 persons in a crowd of strike sympathizers were fatally injured, told the committee that police were forced to shoot.

BUDGET MAY OMIT OLD AGE PENSIONS

Conferees Concede Funds Could Be Provided in Separate Appropriation Bill.

By The Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., June 25—Senate members of a conference committee working on rival appropriations bills of senate and house were ready to concede today that old age pensions might be handled in a separate measure, but the parochial school aid issue remained a stumbling block to attempts to compromise.

The $50,000,000 old age pension item is included in the senate bill, while the house chose to treat it separately at a later date. Pension funds are earmarked from liquor income.

While Sen. Horace W. Baggett, Democrat of Montgomery, mentioning the pension matter, said he was hopeful the committee would "make a go" of a compromise, senators insisted on four points which they called "basics." These were:

1. An all-inclusive appropriation act instead of separate measures for various purposes.
2. Thorough itemization of the budget.
3. Redefinition of "rotary funds."
4. Inclusion in the bill of a statement that money saved by reductions from Gov. Martin L. Davey's budget proposal to be used as the legislature shall decide—such as for relief.

WOMAN INJURED IN COLLISION OF CARS

Cars driven by Jack Nelson of 2904 East Center street and H. W. Powell of 243 Superior street collided on Vernon Heights boulevard shortly after noon today, according to a police report. Powell's car struck the rear of the other automobile as Nelson was stopping. Police were told. Mrs. Nelson, who was accompanying her husband, suffered a head bruise when she bumped her head on the windshield. The cars were slightly damaged.

At 11:30 this morning cars driven by Elroy Moore of 685 Meadow street and Fred Yeager of near Marion, collided at the intersection of Case avenue and Silver street. Police said.

594,000 REINDEER ROAM IN ALASKA

SEWARD, Alaska—The number of Alaska reindeer has turned over nine times since 1910, according to an estimate this year, placing their number at 594,000. The estimate was made by J. Sidney Rood, acting general reindeer superintendent.

A statement issued by Rood showed Eskimos used more than 6,000,000 pounds of reindeer meat and by-products and also 32,000 skins last year.

A total of 50,556 tawns and mavericks were marked to ownership in 1936. The number equals the reindeer population in 1917, Rood said. There are 57 different herds.

Technique and equipment for corral handling of the animals has been improved so much in late years that where it formerly took several days to round up and mark a herd of 1,000 animals, it now requires only two hours.

TEETH BUILD HOSPITAL

Dogs' teeth have provided enough money to build a mission hospital in New Guinea. Last autumn Sister Maria Molnar, a missionary from Budapest, Hungary, wrote back home asking members of her church to collect canine teeth and send them to her as they are valuable as currency in New Guinea. Her appeal brought a large shipment of the teeth.

AKRONITE LEADS IN OHIO AMATEUR

Reaches Semi-Finals With Victory Over Ashland Player.

By The Associated Press. CANTON, June 25—Carlin Short of Akron, who eliminated both the 1935 and 1936 champions yesterday, reached the semi-finals of the 34th Ohio amateur golf championship today with a 5 and 4 victory over Bob Crator of Ashland.

Three up at the turn, Short won the 11th and 12th holes with par figures, and then missed a chance to end the match on the 13th by missing a two-inch putt.

Maurice J. McCarthy of Cincinnati, the 1931 champion and runner-up last year, went into the semi-finals as Short's opponent by defeating Bob Kepler of Dayton, 1934 champion, by 2 and 1.

John Florio of Columbus, the 1929 and 1932 champion bowed out of the picture with a 3 and 1 defeat at the hands of Eddie McIster of Cleveland, the tourney medalist, and member of Yale's golf team.

clara in the strike area, and representatives of the steel companies to decide what course to pursue.

Marx said the 12th engineers, Ohio national guard, a Cleveland organization, was ordered to mobilize in connection with the steel strike.

The adjutant general said the 12th, comprising about 500 men, would be held in its Cleveland armory for orders and had not been assigned to any strike center.

He said no further addition to the mobilized guardsmen was planned immediately.

STATE HELPS RAISE RETIREMENT FUNDS

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., June 25—State cooperation in its employee retirement system became operative today as a revised act of the legislature took effect, although state contributions do not start until Jan. 1, when $56,000 for next year is due.

The state's share is involved in the appropriations measures now before a special legislative session.

The employee retirement plan, affecting 15,000 persons, was started four years ago by the workers themselves, membership being optional with the employee. Since Jan. 1, 1935, participation has been compulsory for all qualified.

not going to be stopped in Warren.

"Furthermore, even though Gov. Davey sold us down the river in breaking his pre-election record of 'I never called out the militia to break a strike,' and in spite of Judge Lynn B. Griffith's sweeping strike-breaking injunction, still we are absolutely certain that as long as Republic employees who are now on strike stay on strike we will win."

John Owens, Ohio CIO leader and director of the steel strike in the state, said along with the scattered picket lines ordering strikers to refuse to work.

"We're going to continue striking," Owens said after hearing reports that workers were entering the mills for the first time in a month, "and with the assurance that the men will win."

Owens said his strategy announced last week of sending strikers into the plants in case of a reopening to sit down at their jobs and tie up operations "does not hold now."

"We're going to advise our people not to go into the mills," he said. "We have advised them not to go in and sit down or practice any violation of the law."

Owens withheld comment.

Owens had no comment on Gov. Davey's order last night.

Asked about the explosion at Warren early today, Owens said: "That's an old trick practiced by strike breaking agencies in industrial strife from the beginning of time. It's always a strange thing that these happenings which terrify people and convince them of the necessity of having police protection result in no conviction of strikers."

"We believe right will prevail in the end. The strike is on and we are going to continue striking with the assurance the men will win."

In Canton, Judge George N. Graham of common pleas court granted an injunction restraining both non-striker and strikers from carrying weapons and prohibiting interference with ingress and egress at Republic plants.

Two hundred Ohio national guardsmen in Canton were ready to help enforce the injunction as soon as they received a call from civil authorities. A picket-limiting injunction granted in Warren is being enforced by the military.

The famous "status quo," requested by Secretary of Labor Perkins and enforced in Ohio by militia, was suddenly ended.

Men who want to work shall "enjoy that privilege," those who wish to continue to strike "are entitled to do so." That was what the governor said in a late night order to the adjutant general said.

Mediation Collapse. The governor acted immediately after President Roosevelt's three-man mediation board at Cleveland had made a final, unsuccessful effort to settle the strike with a proposed "man-to-man" discussion around a conference table.

Union Calls Meeting. Trumbull lodge No. 73, of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, oldest steel union in Warren, called its members to a "urgent" meeting at 1:30 p. m. Saturday.

Five men were taken into custody during the night for throwing stones at cars. No charges were filed. The front door of the home of a Republic foreman at Niles was broken in by rocks early today.

The U. S. Gypsum Co., one of several plants closed yesterday as an aftermath of Wednesday's sympathy walkouts resumed normal operations today. It employs 300 men.

The Bralhard Steel Corp. and the American Welding & Manufacturing Co., employing together about 300, remained closed.

Five hundred workers at the Niles Steel Products Co., at Niles, continued on an enforced holiday, which will last until Monday. Officials of the Van Huffel Tube Corp., which also closed declined to make any statement.

There was no indication that President Roosevelt intended to call a White House peace conference, although many observers felt such a conference was inevitable. John L. Lewis, Philip Murray and other CIO leaders repeatedly have suggested direct presidential intervention. Yesterday Murray proposed that the strike issues be turned over to Mr. Roosevelt for arbitration.

Along with its appeal for a round-table conference, the mediation board last night criticized the four companies involved—Bethlehem, Republic, Sheet & Tube, and Inland Steel—for their bitter refusal to make an agreement with the CIO.

As Ohio militiamen were getting their new orders, martial law was being lifted on another tense strike front—Johnstown, Pa., where state police, under orders from Gov. Earle, forced the closing of the Bethlehem Steel Corp.'s Cambria works last Sunday.

James Mark, district head of the United Mine Workers and leader of the steel workers organizing committee would "resist to the best of our ability" an attempt to reopen the plant.

The strikers demanded a written labor contract with Bethlehem, largest producer independent of the U. S. Steel Corp.

Throughout yesterday men of the mills trooped to seven school houses and a fire engine house to sign petitions that the mill be reopened. The citizens committee said 6,000 had signed.

Union leaders, however, declared they had obtained as many signatures to a petition asking that martial law be maintained and the plant remain closed until the company recognized the union.

Gov. Davey's new militia orders were hardly an hour old before dynamite blasts echoed down the strike front at Warren, O., where Republic Steel's plant has been operating throughout the strike.

One explosion occurred near the gate of Republic's open hearth, and police arrested a man on suspicion. The other was directed at a car in which national guardsmen were riding.

No one was hurt. The soldiers fired at the car from which the bomb had been thrown, but it disappeared.

Guardsmen at Warren had reported earlier that they had uncovered caches of clubs and iron pipes—frequent weapons of strike violence—within 100 yards of the Republic's plant. Under a court order, all CIO pickets at Warren were disbanded two days ago.

Several bakery trucks with food for workers inside the Republic mills were overturned yesterday, and the company continued to use airplanes to get supplies to the workers.

Guardsmen commented today on the fact that several members of CIO are also members of the militia serving on the strike front. One trooper said there were six CIO members in one company of 50 soldiers.

CIO leaders here were not openly discomfited by the news that the troops would be used to protect non-striker, but there was some feeling that the fate of the strike, in this section at least, might depend upon the success or failure of the "back to work" movement.

The federal mediators at Cleveland sought as a final peace gesture to induce the four steel companies—Republic, Youngstown, Sheet & Tube, Inland Steel and Bethlehem—to agree to secret elections; and if such elections should favor CIO as the bargaining agent, then the companies were to sign contracts with that union. The steel men declined.

No more meetings of the board are scheduled.

WESLEY M. E. CHURCH MEETING TONIGHT

Dr. W. P. Castoe of Lima, superintendent of Lima District of the Ohio Methodist conference, will preside for the fourth quarterly conference to be held tonight at Wesley M. E. church. Reports of the various church organizations will be given and officers of the church board will be named.

A CAR KILLED HIS SON

Robert Noth, Sr., is shown today on the running board of a wrecking car at the spot, near Hicksville, L. I., where his 9-year-old son, Robert, Jr., was killed by an auto. The lad was riding his bicycle on the highway. The driver of the car, a neighbor of Noth, was not arrested.

PAMPHLETS DISTRIBUTED TO FORD MEN

The Rouge plant of the Ford Motor Co. can be seen in the background of this picture as members of the United Automobile workers union distributed union literature to passing Ford employees. The papers were handed to those workers who stopped for the traffic light. Four union organizers were beaten in the last attempt to pass out literature to Ford employees. (Associated Press Photo)

DOUBLE MURDER BARED AT IRONTON

By The Associated Press.

IRONTON, O., June 25—A man and woman, both about 40, were found shot to death on a lonely road, 12 miles northwest of here early today. Sheriff Bernard Monte said it apparently was a case of double murder.

Monte identified the woman as Mae Davis, whom he described as an Ironport police character. He said the man was Evans Barnett, who was a township dry officer during prohibition.

Each was shot three times and Monte said their bodies apparently had been lying along the road side since midnight.

JLTED LOVER HUNTED IN CLEVELAND KILLING

Girl Finds Man on Doorstep. Calls for Aid; Later Found Murdered.

By The Associated Press. CLEVELAND, June 25—Finding of the stab-wounded Miss Mary Mathes, 20-year-old clerk, in the kitchen of her east side home early today led to a police search for a man, about 25, with whom she formerly kept company.

She had returned with Charles Sepic, 25, from a dance and as Sepic was about to leave about 2:45 a. m. they were unable to open the front door. Sepic was quoted by Detective Sergeant James Hogan.

Given a key to open it, Sepic said he found a man sitting at the doorstep. When he asked the man what he was doing he replied "nothing," Hogan said he was informed.

"Don't let him in," Sepic quoted Miss Mathes as saying. The former friend, she said, "would kill her." She pleaded with Sepic to go for help, his story continued, and he went out of the side door and returned about five minutes later with three passersby.

They found the girl stabbed dead in the kitchen. A deep gash in the throat was the cause of death, police said. The girl was employed at a local manufacturing concern.

Police said they had learned she had broken off her friendship with the man two years ago.

SENATOR BERATES REVENUE AGENTS

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 25—Chairman Doughton, Democrat of North Carolina in the congressional tax committee, said today resignation of internal revenue agents to handle private tax cases was "almost a scandal."

Commissioner Guy T. Helvering has agreed to give the senate-house investigators a list of employees who have left the internal revenue bureau for that reason.

Sen. La Follette, Progressive of Wisconsin, calling the turnover of bureau employees "one of the real problems in the struggle of the government to collect its taxes," asked for the list yesterday.

GRANDMOTHER ENDS JOB AS 'MOTORMAN'

By United Press.

ALIQUIPPA, Pa.—Mrs. Grace Gross' unusual career as a street car "motorman" is ended—the car she piloted for 19 years has been replaced by buses.

Mrs. Gross began operating electric cars during the war, because of the shortage of men operators. Widowed, she continued at her job after the return of the A. E. F.

She is a grandmother now.

DIVORCES JAM COURTS

Steady increase in the number of divorce suits in Britain is giving local circles a problem that they apparently cannot solve. Recent comments by judges in London, including Lord Chief Justice Hewart and Justice Saffi, have emphasized the need for reform in the handling of hearings. The number of petitions entered each week exceed the number tried in the same period. When the last term of court ended more than 500 cases were untied. One of the reasons for the increase is that more poor people are taking advantage of the facilities provided them, more than half the petitioners in undefended cases suing as poor persons.

A process has been developed in Germany that reduces the cost of producing hydrogen and carbon monoxide.

BRITAIN'S PREMIER VOWS TO KEEP PEACE

Urges People To Keep Cool and Calls for Withdrawal of Foreign Fighters.

By The Associated Press. Britain's Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain promised the house of commons today he would do everything in his power to keep the Spanish civil war from bursting into a general conflict.

He advocated renewed efforts to withdraw all foreign fighters from Spain and filling in the gap in the neutrality patrol of Spanish shores that resulted from German and Italian withdrawal.

While Chamberlain opened a common debate, German and Italian warships were strung along Britain's "empire life line" in the Mediterranean, near Spain's bloody shores.

The sea power of Britain and France was well represented there, too.

France and Great Britain urged Germany and Italy to approve their proposal that Anglo-French warships take over the portion of the international patrol which Germany and Italy abandoned. That portion lies on the east, or Spanish government, coast of Spain.

Future Italian cooperation in the patrol was said in Rome to depend on Franco-British collaboration in presenting a firm front against "Bolshevism."

In Italian political quarters there were fears that some new incident might force Italy and Germany to withdraw from the European non-intervention committee as well as the patrol.

Spanish insurgents within the peninsula continued their advance on the northern Spanish civil war front. They swept government forces from the industrial region along the west bank of the Nervion river, west of insurgent-conquered Bilbao.

HARDIN AND UNION CONVICTS PAROLED

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., June 25—The state parole board yesterday granted paroles to 26 inmates of the London prison farm, conditionally released two and continued 25 cases.

Paroles with charges and dates of release included: Ted Adams of Union county, January, April 10 to go to Kentucky, and Harry Chamberlin of Hardin county, Statutory.

BUDGE BEATS CZECH

By The Associated Press.

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 25—Don Budge, America's chief hope of regaining the Davis cup, continued his parade through the all-England tennis championship today as he defeated Ladislav Hecht of Czechoslovakia 6-4, 6-2, 6-2 to gain the quarter-final round.

The Zep, a 16-inch model of the German airship, is used to convey messages between physics building and the engineering school, called "Lakehurst-Friedrichshafen."

The airship is operated electrically on cables stretching from the building 150 feet distant. It is invented and installed by Asst. Dean Harry R. Mimmo of the engineering school.

On leaving the station under its own power the aluminum touches off a switch as it rises from the base. The switch, attached to a small electrical motor winds a small armature connected with a pulley spring which operates the cable pulling from the opposite side. When it arrives at its destination the "Zep" releases a switch, shutting off the motor. A red light flashes to signal its arrival.

OIL PAINTING AID FARM WIVES

Nebraska Woman Points Way Out of Depression and Drouth.

By United Press. INVALE, Neb.—Mrs. J. Marker, whose 400-acre farm is in middle of Nebraska, has produced a spear of grass since she painted her way out of the depression.

Today Mrs. Marker is proud to announce that her crop of paint exceeds 1,000, that they have to every state in the Union for her household budget is being green grass here for five years.

Mrs. Marker said, "so I had something. I borrowed a paint and copied it. Since then I have made as many as three oil paintings a day."

"I send hundreds to stores in Minnesota. I also exchange paintings for embroidery work, quilts, scraps from Florida, and some Washington letters from California and chickens from Iowa."

Works Early and Late. Mrs. Marker said she gets early in the morning to paint. She is often still working at midnight. She never tires, she said, because she loves to paint. She never has any formal art education.

"Only when the dust blows hard, I have to stop," she explained. "I tried to paint in a storm, but I had to give it up, though I was not outdoors. A storm lasted all night. We sat with wet clothes over our heads to get a breath. People crawling miles, feeling their way across a ridge of the road. It was impossible to set a foot ahead."

"Sometimes I copy snapshots of animals," Mrs. Marker said. "Sometimes I just copy a picture out of the paper."

Likes Animal Life. "My favorite picture is 'Dog and Lamb,' which I painted in 1931. I also like the 'Meadow of Cattle,' standing in a stream of water, with water lilies in front. I think a picture is more complete with a deer, a dog or some animal or bird in it."

Mrs. Marker's ambition is to paint a large church mural. "The next time I get an order for a church painting," she said, "am going to paint a picture of Bethlehem. I want to do a large canvas with lots of color and life in it."

The middle-aged woman took up painting in lieu of planting, makes all her own frames. She augments her income from oil paintings with what she earns from plaster plaques and a painting of velvet.

Woman Sues Self in Court for $15,000.

By United Press. MERCER, Pa.—Cliffing an 11-year-old, apparently forgotten contract, Mrs. Minnie Slocum McMillen brought court officials to a 150-year-old precedent for her suit.

McMillen wanted $15,000 from herself by virtue of a signed article, which she declared was made by her late husband, Addison C. McMillen, six days before they were married in 1898, stipulating that he would pay $1,000 annually if she married him.

They were married, Mrs. McMillen, contended, and lived together for 18 years, but she never received a cent according to the contract.

She said the court discovered McMillen named his wife administratrix, with herself and three children as heirs.

The court learned also that preliminary estimate of his estate was placed at $5,500.

WALDO BRIDGE CLUB MEETS IN MARION

Entertained at Home of Mrs. Russell Sykes.

Special to The Star
WALDO, June 25—Mrs. Russell Sykes entertained her bridge club Thursday evening at her home in Marion. Mrs. Marion Clark was a guest. Mrs. Clifford Conklin won high honors and Mrs. Frank Groll the galloping prize. This meeting closed the club season for the year.

A floral cantata entitled "Lady Green Gown" will be given by the young people of Waldo Reformed Sunday school Sunday at 8 p. m.

A Father's day surprise party was given Sunday by D. E. Graham, at his home south of town, by his children and grandchildren, who held a picnic dinner on the lawn at his home. Those present besides Mrs. Graham were Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Hogue of Columbia, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wilson and daughters Betty and Virginia of Delaware, Mr. and Mrs. George Grace of south of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Graham of Bucyrus, Miss Edna Graham, W. McPeak of Marion and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Graham and family.

Mrs. Edward Knappenger entertained Sunday at a birthday dinner at their home honoring the anniversary of her husband and her daughters Mary Ellen and Mary Ellen. Guests were Mrs. Hannah Reely, Mrs. Ralph Reely, and Mr. and Mrs. John Baldwin of Ashley.

An illustrated lecture will be given Sunday evening at the Methodist church by John E. Norton, returned missionary from the B. C. M. mission of Dhond, India.

Renew Search Here for Historic "Jacob's Well"

One of the most interesting hunts in the history of Marion county is being taken up with renewed vigor this summer—the hunt for "Jacob's Well," a historical spot of the War of 1812, disappeared now for more than 80 years.

Leading the searchers is Ernest H. Wideman, employed in the office of the county recorder, who saw a legal paper about six years ago containing a mention of the location of the well. The paper, which had disappeared, but is believed to be somewhere in the city.

The Daughters of the American Revolution for several years have sought to locate the landmark to place a marker on its approximate location. Mr. Wideman said the well probably was originally located on South Main street a few houses south of Columbia street on the east side. All traces of the well have disappeared, however. Its origin likewise is a matter of conjecture. Most credible is the story that it was dug by a soldier in the army of Gen. William Henry Harrison when it passed through here in November, 1812, while the country was covered with woods and Indians. The soldier's first name was Jacob and it is believed his last name was Foss. Thirsty, he began to dig in the ground in the hope of reaching water. To his amazement and his companions', after he

THE SAFE, SENSIBLE WAY TO RELIEVE CONSTIPATION

Every one knows the dangers of constipation. Pills and drugs usually bring only temporary relief. That's because common constipation is due to meals low in "bulk."

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN contains "bulk" that does not break down in the body as does that of many leafy vegetables. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water and forms a soft mass that gently sponges the intestines.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. In addition to "bulk"—it gives vitamin B to tone up the system, and iron for the blood. It is a healthful way to get rid of constipation and all its evils.

Eat two tablespoons daily with milk or cream—three times a day in severe cases. Or use it in making bran muffins, breads, in salads or soups. Guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GIRL ON TRIAL AS MURDERER

Death Penalty Asked After Jury Condemns Her Sweetheart To Die.

By The Associated Press.
LONOKE, Ark., June 25—The state called Bernice Felton to trial on a murder charge today, demanding that the 18-year-old girl be condemned to death, just as her sweetheart was in a swift trial yesterday.

The girl from Rockford, Ill., was one of few connected with the case who betrayed no emotion when a jury decreed that 23-year-old Lester Brockelhurst must die for killing Victor Davis of Little Rock during a "crime tour" with Bernice last spring.

And early today the slim young woman remained outwardly calm, even in the face of Prosecutor George Hartley's declaration, "I shall leave no stone unturned in demanding the same penalty for her."

The Felton girl's attorney entered an outright plea of innocence for her and said he would make no plea of insanity, as did counsel for Brockelhurst, a former Sunday school teacher from Galesburg, Ill.

The Brockelhurst jury deliberated only 22 minutes before giving him the extreme penalty.

Climaxing an eight-hour trial, the execution verdict swept the crowded courtroom into an emotional uproar set off by collapse of the convicted man. A few minutes after the prisoner was carried unconscious to his cell, his father, L. W. Brockelhurst Sr., also collapsed.

Mrs. L. W. Brockelhurst, wife and mother, sobbed loudly for a while, then said, "I've got to hear up, both my boy and my husband need me."

Circuit Judge W. J. Waggoner said he would pass sentence on Brockelhurst and set his execution date after completion of the girl's trial. Defense counsel announced an appeal would be carried to the state supreme court.

"TRIAL" HAIRCUT

Lester Brockelhurst, "crime tourist" who was wanted in four states, was prepared for his murder trial at Lonoke, Ark., by the jail barber who gave him a final haircut. Brockelhurst, Galesburg, Ill., youth who formerly was a Sunday school teacher, was convicted of murder yesterday. His girl friend, Bernice Felton of Rockford, Ill., went on trial on a similar charge today.

The responsibility for the next move would therefore seem to be both on the President and on John Lewis and unless the next move contains some formula which can make the CIO unions legally responsible for damages they cause by interruptions to plants while a contract is in progress, the public may look for more instead of less labor trouble in the motor industry.

Public opinion is becoming restive throughout the country, as no doubt Governor Earle of Pennsylvania discovered after his use of troops to shut the Johnstown plant of the Bethlehem Steel Co. Every day the issue becomes clearer: shall citizens be protected in their right to work? Shall collective bargaining carry with it a commensurate means of collective responsibility? If collective bargaining is to be compelled by legal means, so also does a legal means of imposing collective responsibility upon labor unions become an inevitable counterpart of any formula for labor peace in America.

CIO MUST GUARANTEE VALID CONTRACTS

not answer the question of how in the meantime losses are to be prevented when irresponsible leaders permit outbreaks and cannot control sporadic strikes. If the labor unions were incorporated, or if they were compelled to post bonds, or if Congress passed a statute forbidding strikes when contracts providing mediation machinery to settle grievances had been agreed to by both sides, something might be done to bring about stability in the relations of employers and employees even where CIO unionization exists.

Will G. M. C. Sign? The eyes of the country from now on will be focused on Michigan as much as on Ohio and Pennsylvania. For the General Motors Co. has before it now a request for a new contract or an extension of the present agreement. Will the General Motors Co. sign another contract? Few observers think the General Motors Co. would be so poorly advised as to continue an arrangement wherein no sense of responsibility is manifested by one of the parties to the agreement.

What then can the CIO unions do? They can "investigate," but in the meantime probably there will be no contract made unless some safeguards or assurances can be invoked. The government of the United States and the government of Michigan could help in making contracts binding. President Roosevelt is to some extent "on the spot" in the controversy, because he and his secretary of labor used to insist in persuading the motor executives to sign contracts with the CIO.

The responsibility for the next move would therefore seem to be both on the President and on John Lewis and unless the next move contains some formula which can make the CIO unions legally responsible for damages they cause by interruptions to plants while a contract is in progress, the public may look for more instead of less labor trouble in the motor industry.

"Harmless" Firecracker One That Usually Kills

MAKINGS OF FOURTH OF JULY TRAGEDY Small Boy, a Match and "Harmless" Firecrackers

By The Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 25—Firecrackers in the hands of little children are still the biggest hazard of the Fourth of July.

It was the "harmless" brand that caused 2,075 of 3,000 accidents studied in 1935 by the Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Nine of those killed were less than five years old; 146 injured were less than five. Altogether, at least, 7,735 persons were injured and 39 killed from fireworks.

They're All Dangerous The National Safety council, discussing the survey, explains that most folks blame high-powered explosives for the accidents they read about. As a matter of fact, the council concludes, the common firecracker is the real villain.

Even sparklers, given to children because of their supposed safety, caused many injuries and at least two deaths.

The society cites these as typical accidents:

A policeman shattered his hand so badly that amputation was necessary. He was showing a child how to light a firecracker.

A fragment of tin pierced a boy's heart. He had lit a firecracker under a tin can.

One boy sent killed and two passersby injured. The lad had dropped a lighted firecracker into an unused 1,000 gallon gasoline tank—which still contained some gas and vapor.

A war veteran who had been cured of shell shock lashed out and shattered his skull against a lamp post. He had been startled by a firecracker thrown at him.

Lighted firecrackers tossed into autos and crowds were found responsible for 1,359 of the 3,000 accidents studied.

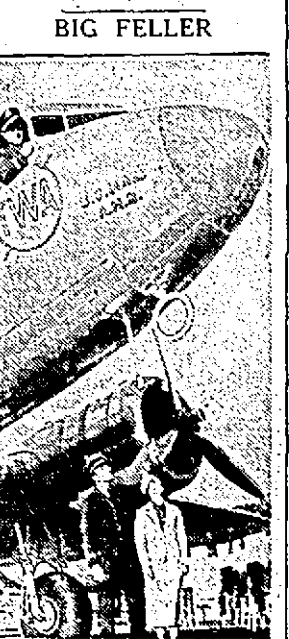

How To Attack Problem The National Safety council suggests these preventive measures: Legislation against the uncontrolled use of fireworks—legislation which will effectively throttle sale by the bootleg stands which spring up when sale is forbidden.

Municipally sponsored fireworks displays, handled by experts, to satisfy in a really safe and sane manner the public appetite for flashing boom-booms.

The council cites Baltimore's experience as proof of what can be accomplished when control is properly exercised. Although its population exceeds 600,000, the city kept its injury toll to 10 in 1935. The remainder of Maryland, with about the same population, had 109 casualties.

6,000 HUNT DYED FAIRIE Six thousand British soldiers are searching for a tall man of 36, with dyed red hair and beard, flowing coat and baggy trousers, who for 12 years has fomented and led tribal outbreaks against British authority along the North West Frontier. He is Mirza Ali Khan, the Fakir of Ipi, who by sheer force of personality has become a fair, high religious leader. His power has made him the terror of the frontier country. An expert horseman and an uncanny shot he always eludes the soldiers. Mirza Ali Khan preys on his followers' religious prejudices, telling them that any action by the British is a blow to Islam. Last November British soldiers were shot by his men. Later two British officers were murdered by the fakir's followers.

WARDEN WINS FIGHT IN WILDS

Park Attendant Trampled by Horse Crawls Over Grizzly Infested Mountains.

By The Associated Press.
JASPER, Alberta, June 25—A veteran national parks warden lay badly injured in a hospital today while rescuers recounted his story of six days of agony, three of them spent in crawling just 500 yards to telephone for help after his horse trampled him.

The warden, Edward McDonald, had survived the long days and nights in the cold mountain air, without food and with grizzly bears stalking the vicinity. It was believed he has a broken pelvis and serious internal injuries.

McDonald's story, as rescuers told it, was this:

Last week, two grizzlies kept him a prisoner in his cabin for two days after he shot at them. They finally disappeared and he started for Isaac creek after telephoning the national parks headquarters here he would be out of reach by telephone for several days.

McDonald had gone only 210 yards on his horse when the huge bears reappeared and attacked. The horse bolted and trampled the warden.

For three days he lay without moving. His dog kept vigil by his side, but McDonald knew he could expect no hope of rescue for some days because he had told headquarters there would be no word from him.

Finally he inched his way to a water supply a few feet away. The water revived him somewhat and he began to crawl toward his cabin. That took another three days.

Stretched out in the cabin, he took hours to drag together enough boxes so that he could lift himself to the height of the telephone.

Rescuers got to him that night, Tuesday. He was still conscious. The next day they started out for Jasper, with McDonald on a litter borne by pack horses. They crossed 22 miles of mountain trails to reach the head of Medicine lake

NEW PROGRAM HINTED Japan may be compelled to expand its army air force to that provided for in the six program of perfection of its air force. This was hinted by War Minister Hajime Sugiyama at a meeting at Tokyo subcommittee of the budget committee of the House of Representatives. "With completion of the present six-year program," said, "I think we can fairly maintain a balance with the Union. However, should Soviets, who are concentrating an increase in the strength of air force, undertake any major degree of expansion of armaments, Japan would have to take that into account."

MOTHERS WIN STRIKE After 11 days of unofficial vacation for their 600 children mothers of Bedford, England, have won their strike against the local school board. The pupils have gone back to their studies pending an investigation by the board of education.

The strike was a protest against the committee's refusal to admit junior pupils to the new Silver Jubilee school, and also against a new reorganization plan which would compel pupils to go one mile through busy traffic centers four times a day.

Social Affairs

MEMBERS of the former Sub Deb club entertained with a dinner bridge and kitchen shower last evening at the Center tearoom on South Main street as a pre-nuptial courtesy for Miss Betty Stauffer, who will become the bride of John A. Guthrie, Sunday. The bride-elect's colors of pastel peach, blue, green and yellow predominated in the dinner appointments and were carried out in the bouquets which decorated the rooms. She found her gifts when she was presented a recipe book illustrating the use of her hidden gifts and containing original verses directing her to them. The club also presented her with a wedding gift.

Awards in bridge were won by Mrs. Henry R. Stauffer and Miss Ruth Emery.

Present with the honor guest were Mrs. Stauffer, Mrs. Walker Guthrie, Misses Mary Guthrie, Jeannette Ammann, Ruth Emery, Virginia Freese, Susan Haberman, Gladys Hinson, Betty Moore, Jane Starus, Martha Van Atta, Vivian Welmer, and Mary Ann Young.

MRS. BERT BRASHARES, who was Miss Neva Rish before her recent marriage, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower party last evening at the home of Miss Mary Fox of St. James street.

A coterie presented to Mrs. Brashares held cards on which were original verses instructing her where to search for her gifts. Bridge and coffee were played, bridge honors going to Mrs. William Yocom and Miss Grace Wirtz, and coffee honors to Miss Emma Prettyman and Miss Evelyn Powell. Lunch was served at small tables decorated with garden flowers. A color scheme of blue and white was carried out in the appointments. The hostess was assisted by her mother Mrs. R. H. Fox, and Mrs. Henry Uline.

Guests were Mrs. Blanche Rish, mother of Mrs. Brashares, Mrs. J. A. Aultman, Mrs. Yocom, Mrs. Walker, Mrs. Guthrie, Mrs. Walter Stromminger, Mrs. Ralph Cheney, Mrs. Clara Winifredham, Mrs.

BRIDESMAID DIES

Miss Alice Matthews Hunsman (above), 20-year-old society girl of Baltimore, who was to have been a bridesmaid at the wedding of Ebel duPont and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. died as a result of injuries suffered when she was thrown by her horse.

She was presented to Mrs. Gene Stackpole, Mrs. C. W. Mink, Mrs. A. P. Herbert, Mrs. George Bishop, Mrs. Herman Wylie and Mrs. L. E. The presentation was made by Mrs. William Wollinger, chairman of the birthday anniversary fund. A potluck dinner preceded the program. Honors at progressive euchre went to Mrs. Harley Lush, first, Mrs. Robert Pollard, second, and Mrs. Stackpole, third. The door award was won by Mrs. Wylie. Mrs. Gene Williams of Oak Grove avenue will entertain the club in two weeks.

The Past Worthy High Priestess association of Mt. Olive Shrine Order of White Shrine of Jerusalem in Columbus, held a luncheon meeting yesterday at the home of Mrs. Zoe Lucius of 202 Jane avenue. Covers were placed for 12. Mrs. Lucius was assisted by Mrs. Zella Sweeney and Mrs. Lauretta Fies. The July meeting will be held with Mrs. Belle Houser of Lancaster.

Mrs. Lloyd Thompson of Olney avenue entertained the Jolly Bridge club at her home Wednesday afternoon. Honors went to Mrs. Florey Marshall first, Mrs. Willard Clarke second, Mrs. T. H. Clark third and the hostess was consoled. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Willard Clarke on Windsor street in two weeks.

CULT VICTIM EMBRACES SISTER

When Elaine Jewett, 17-year-old Denver, Cal., schoolgirl, appeared in court at Los Angeles, to testify against John Hunt, wealthy member of the Father Divine cult, and alleged seducer of the Jewett girl, she was accompanied by her younger sister, Elaine, left, who was at her side during the trial.

Weddings

Announcement is being made today of the marriage of Miss Mary Catherine Eversole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Eversole of Tinney, near Fremont, and George Harold Power, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Power of 223 Benton place, which took place Sunday at Fellowship hall. The ceremony was read at 11:30 o'clock, in Trinity Evangelical church, by Rev. R. L. Lee, pastor, a former resident of Marion.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. Gladys Eversole, and Mr. Power's best man was her brother, James Eversole. For her wedding the bride wore an ankle-length gown of mousseline de sole over white taffeta and a wedding veil which was floor-length. Her flowers were a corsage of aspidochloa, baby nuns, feverfew and phlox, tied with white ribbon. The maid of honor wore a gown fashioned on lines similar to that of the bride, but in a pink shade, and her large picture hat was in a harmonizing shade. Her corsage held the same flowers as were in the bride's bouquet and was held with pink ribbon.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents and later Mr. and Mrs. Power left on a short wedding trip. For traveling the bride chose a costume in a pink shade with harmonizing accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Power will make their home in Marion. Mr. Power is employed with the Marion Steam Shovel Co.

Attending the wedding from Marion were the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Power and daughter Joyce Ann, Mrs. Charles Artz and Miss Ruth Artz.

Personal Mention

Mrs. Fred Artz and Mrs. E. W. Thompson of North Main street will leave Saturday for Chicago where they will board a special train carrying delegates and visitors to the annual national convention of Alpha Xi Delta sorority which will be held the first week in July at Old Faithful Inn in Yellowstone National Park. Mrs. Artz is a past president of Province No. 2.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Dorsey of Elizaville, Ky., are visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Carriker, at the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church manse at 119 Johnson street. Their son and daughter, William and Mabel Dorsey, will come Sunday and the four will return home together.

Clyde E. Keeler of the Harvard university medical school faculty is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Keeler of St. James street. With him is his daughter, Marjorie.

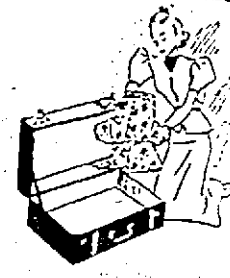

Anniversary of Salt Rock Club Marked at Party

MRS. GEORGE JOLLEY of north of Richmond was hostess when the Salt Rock Joy Makers club observed the fifteenth anniversary of its organization yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Ethel Selter, president of the club, was in charge of the meeting, and the members responded to roll call with "household hints."

Mrs. Robert Carpenter was named chairman of a committee to assist in the October meeting when the club will observe next day. Serving on the committee will be Mrs. William Rhoades and Mrs. Edna Cates. Plans also were made for a family party Friday evening, July 2 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James King.

Mrs. Carl McKelvey presided for the program hour which opened with a song by the club members. Mrs. Edna Jones gave a reading, "The Gardener's Gift," and Mrs. McKelvey read a letter from Mrs. Floyd Hennrich, a member of the club, who is spending the summer in Illinois. A vocal duet, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," by Mrs. Selter and Miss Mabel Cates, was followed by a paper dealing with the club's anniversary, by Mr. Edith Sloat. A song by the club closed the program hour.

Joining the members as guests were Mrs. Anna Gray, Mrs. Ruth Scott and son Jimmy, Mrs. Mabel Cates, Darlene Selter, Julia Roberts and Arlene Smith, Edith, Edith and Allan McKelvey, Beulah, Carl and Lowell Murphy. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Helen Baker of north of Meeker.

CHAPTER NINE
Fighting It Out

Pushing in the bright red door, Ted entered a large square room, had all the ear-marked time bar room, from which he saw a group of men were gathered at the square place tables, and at the far end of the bar, the two punches Ted had seen. They were still chuckling at their joke and Mike Kelly, in sympathy, he stood behind the bar, polishing a glass and waiting for their mirth to subside enough for them to give him a drink.

His blood boiling at the ceremony that Kay was the subject of their coarse hilarity, Ted stepped up to them and peremptorily tapped the shoulder of the man who had been the whipper-snapper.

"I'm giving you notice to cut out the mention of my young lady's name in this or any other place," Ted's voice had a menacing intensity that made no room to veil the threat beneath his words.

The man swung around, surprise and anger lighting up his face.

"I wouldn't take anything for finding Vendol which relieved my constipation. Then all the pains disappeared," says Mrs. Lena Bodman.

Had Backache Every Morning

"I wouldn't take anything for finding Vendol which relieved my constipation. Then all the pains disappeared," says Mrs. Lena Bodman.

"I suffered a long time from pain in my limbs and arms, and every morning I had an awful backache, until I heard about Vendol relieving constipation which caused these troubles, so I got some of this medicine and never felt anything so much good. Vendol gave me the most gratifying relief from my constipation and now all my aches and pains have gone away. I can strongly recommend Vendol to others who suffer this way," says Mrs. Lena Bodman of 29 Park Blvd., Marion, Ohio.

How long have you been suffering from indigestion, sour stomach, bloating up gas and particles of undigested food? Is your tongue coated, breath offensive, do you feel weak, nervous, listless, causing you to drag around listlessly all day long? Why do you suffer from aches, pains and inconvenience? All because your bowels are constipated and fail to eliminate regularly?

Yes, of course you've tried medicine after medicine and gotten only slight benefit. But that is because you shouldn't take Vendol, the formula which has helped literally hundreds of thousands of men and women who once suffered the same way.

Vendol is made from roots, herbs and alkalines, a double-action remedy that gives gratifying relief from constipation and all of the annoying symptoms caused by it. Vendol is pleasant to take and never acts and you will never regret trying it.

All leading druggists sell Vendol and it is highly recommended in this city by Henney & Cooper, Druggists.

mean gray eyes. They were set closely on either side of a thin nose that was disfigured by a badly set, broken in the bone.

"You don't say!" His eyes traveled significantly to Ted's belt, which he emptied. "And just what's going to stop me?" he demanded. His own gun had laughed disagreeably. "Reckon you need a lesson!"

"Cut that out, Scrap!" Mike Kelly's voice matched the bulldog expression that wiped out his genial grin, and proclaimed him a man who was master of his own dominion.

"No pulling on an unarmed man in my joint," he declared. "You can get outside if there's going to be any of that kind of play."

Mike Kelly To Fair Play

The man addressed as Scrap took his hand away from his gun with another sneering laugh, as his eyes measured Ted's emaciated figure and drawn face, which still held lines of his recent privations and despising defiance against over-whelming odds. Then he coolly turned his head away from Ted and addressed his companion again.

"Looks like the little red-headed fella picked herself up a kind of a scrawny new champion from somewhere."

"No sooner were the words out than Scrap's face crashed under the force of a blow that snapped his head back and made him stagger away from the bar.

The next instant he recovered himself and with a roar of rage reached for his gun. But Mike Kelly had been too quick for him. Foreseeing the inevitable outcome, he had reached across the counter and snatched Scrap's gun from his hand. Then he coolly turned his head away from Ted and addressed his companion again.

The next instant he recovered himself and with a roar of rage reached for his gun. But Mike Kelly had been too quick for him. Foreseeing the inevitable outcome, he had reached across the counter and snatched Scrap's gun from his hand. Then he coolly turned his head away from Ted and addressed his companion again.

"I'm keeping this for you," Mike Kelly announced. "Go ahead and fight it out man to man, if you've got to."

"Are you ready to swear off from mentioning that swarthy lady's name, or do you want some more?" Ted faced his panting opponent whose rage for the moment had been deflected to Mike Kelly. These words swept Scrap back to the real issue at hand.

"Like hell I am!" he roared, making a lunge.

Ted deftly sidestepped and came back with a left that carried a vicious whiplash to his right hand. Before Scrap had time to recover, Ted closed in with an uppercut. The next instant they were locked in a rigid hold.

As the sweating fighters rocked back and forth, the quickly-gathered crowd watched with breathless interest and offered advice.

"Ted tore his right free and hammered away at close quarters!" Gradually he felt Scrap's knees begin to give. He knew the moment had come. Breaking away with one mighty jerk, Ted stepped back, spotted a corner on Scrap's chin and let loose. He connected. Scrap crashed to the floor with a guttural groan. Ted heard the crowd cheer as he knelt beside the writhing Scrap and gripped his right wrist. With a slow, relentless twist he threatened to wrench the arm from its socket.

"Are you ready to leave that young lady's name alone?" Scrap gritted his teeth, then yelped with pain and rage as Ted put on pressure. "Yes, damn you! Let me go!"

Ted dropped the arm and stepped swiftly back as his victim tried to struggle to his feet. Then sank back in an exhausted stupor.

"Don't forget!" Ted warned. "If it ever happens again, I won't stop short of a broken neck. Get me?"

With a nod and a "Thank for the fair play," to Mike Kelly, Ted turned and strode out. To his relief, Kay was nowhere in sight, and the horses were waiting as he had left them.

Panting from his exertions, but with a wild sense of elation coursing through him, Ted mounted his horse again and watched the bank door for Kay's reappearance.

"Here's a snake!"

Her eyes half blinded with tears of rage and disappointment, Kay stumbled out of the bank and walked over to where Ted was waiting with the horses.

She was absorbed in her own troubles and hardly glanced at Ted, so failed to notice his new look of power and restored confidence that the fight with Scrap had given him.

He resolved not to mention his encounter, handing Kay Flicker's reins in silence and getting away from here. He gasped, seeing Flicker's reins and flinging herself into the saddle. A touch of her heel to Flicker's flank sent him ahead at a startled bound.

Without questioning her haste, Ted followed suit, and the two pounded down the main street of Red River at breakneck speed. For several minutes after they reached the range, Kay set the same pace, not pulling in until she felt she had herself enough under control to speak without having her voice betray the panic that possessed her.

The blow she had had was all the greater because she had never for a moment doubted that she would have the insurance money to rebuild. Her thoughts ran in incoherent circles, seeking a way out, but apparently there wasn't any.

No matter from what angle she looked at it, she was trapped. Without money to rebuild, how could she carry on? Even if they went without the house, the barn was the heart's blood of the ranch in winter time. And Aunt Kate and Babs could go on visiting forever. Perhaps they could all get on in the two cabins, but how could she break her promise to Ted Gaylor?

"Would you rather not tell me what's happened?" Ted's voice brought her back from her desperate future plans to the present. Kay pulled in, and turned toward him.

"No, you may as well know now, as later. I can't get any of the insurance money." With a rush, the whole story poured out in answer to his unspoken sympathy.

"And somehow, I know Josh Hastings is behind it all!" he ended passionately. "I wouldn't even put it past him to have burnt down the ranch to get his own way!"

She stopped short, suddenly aware that she no longer had Ted's attention.

"Josh Hastings?" He echoed the name, without hearing any of the rest of her tirade. "Is Josh Hastings the owner of the Flying Six?" You never mentioned his name before."

"Yes," she answered breathlessly, held by his hard set look and knowledge about him.

"How long has he been here?"

"About three years. Why? Do you know him?"

"Is he a big man, with a red face and very blue eyes?"

"Didn't you see him go into the bank?"

Ted shook his head. "He must have slipped by me while I was watching a fracas down by Kelly's joint. He evaded a more explicit account of the use of his time during Kay's absence."

"Yes — you've described him. That's the one. Tell me what you know about him!" Kay demanded eagerly.

"I know plenty," Ted answered with grim emphasis. "I won't tell you any more now, but perhaps I will some day. He's a snake, and a damned clever one."

"I've known it all along," Kay took a long breath, "but you're the first one I've met who agrees with me on that subject. Even Dad didn't see through him, although I'm willing to bet some of the troubles that have hit us since Josh Hastings bought the Flying Six can be laid at his door. He's determined to be the biggest cattle man in Montana, and to pull that off, he's got to have our ranch added to his."

Ted suggested a plan to have the Lazy Nine for Kay, tomorrow.

with General Kelley to push the organization of military units to protect western Virginia from Confederate invasion.

They were quartered at a hotel operated by John Daily. Daily had a daughter to whom General Crook was strongly attracted and who seemed to like him. The girl's beauty, however, prevented Crook's attention to his sister and organized a band of young men in sympathy with the Confederacy who entered the quarters of the union generals one night, bound and gagged them and carried them through the Confederate lines.

They soon afterward were exchanged, however, and remained their duties. Later Crook met Miss Daily again and they were married.

Marion Hammers Out 10-4 Victory Over Tiffin

Team Sparkles For Fans In Second Home Contest

"Slim" Mann Keeps Mud Hens' Hits Scattered; Marion Scores Heavily in Eighth, Ninth Innings.

BREAKING into the stride which has kept them in the top ranks of the Ohio State league all season, the Marion baseball club hammered out a 10 to 4 victory over the Tiffin Mud Hens yesterday afternoon, in the second game on the home lot since the team was transferred here from Sandusky.

Gordon "Slim" Mann, Marion's elongated right-hand moundsman, kept the visitors pretty well under his thumb except for the initial inning, and turned in his fifth-pitching victory in as many starts. Although Mann was nipped for 10 hits, he kept them well scattered, and the Hens scored but two runs in the first frame and lone tallies in the fourth and fifth innings.

The slender 20-year-old Californian, who pours his offerings down across the plate from a height of six feet, six inches, received excellent fielding support. Only one miscue was made behind his armless, flawless pitcher, as he chalked up his fourth consecutive win and continued as one of the three hurlers in the league undefeated this season.

Hens Score Early
After the Hens tallied twice in the first frame, on a double, two singles and a sacrifice, the Grayhens came to bat and slugged their way to a 3-2 advantage. Buster Silve and Mike Hurler led off with singles and Stan Hark, rightfielder, slammed out a double to score a pair of runs. Ted Swed's single scored Plutek, and Grayana bouncer to third base worked into a double play. Knuffman singled and Robbins fanned to end the inning.

In the third inning Marion lost its lead by two runs when Plutek was paired to first. Swed singled and Manager Geygan doubled off the right field fence. The Hens crept up dangerously on the three run lead as they scored once in each of the following innings. Marion clung to the narrow margin lead until the eighth inning when the big bats of the home team went to work in a multi-run assault that drove the Hens' left-hander, Vardreger from the mound.

Slugging Starts
Manager Geygan elected the eighth inning fireworks with a double to the fence. Knuffman singled and Robbins fanned to end the inning.

In the third inning Marion

White Sox Slugger—Bonura

BIG ZEKIE BONURA, the wallopier whale of the White Sox, is looming large on the hitting horizon these days. And Zeki can really loom!

The spaghetti-eating first sacker is slow but sure—slow on the base paths but sure to pound the home plate. They were saying that Zeki would eat himself out of the big leagues, but the big guy didn't worry. His old man has a corner on in New Orleans, and Zeki always had the bananas to fall back on.

Enemy pitchers would like to see him fall back on a few bananas peels. Zeki is poison to pitchers.

RIZZO PAGES BIRDS TO 13-1 VICTORY OVER FAULTY BREWS

Columbus Fielder Makes Another Bid for Loop Battering Title.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 23.—Young Johnny Rizzo of the Columbus Red Birds apparently is going to make a spirited bid for another grasp on American association top batting honors.

His teammate, Frank Slaughter, took the top spot away from him only a few days ago, but Rizzo gained points last night as he paced Columbus to a 13 to 1 win over Milwaukee's erratic Brewers. Rizzo had three hits in as many trips to the plate.

Slaughter had one hit in four appearances, giving him his 21st consecutive game in which he has hit safely. Bill McGee's brilliant pitching was the biggest factor in putting Columbus back into the first division. He allowed only two hits, fanned 13 and walked two, and the lone Brewer run was unearned, coming on Lynn King's wild throw to the plate after Helt's triple.

Minneapolis gained a full game on Toledo in the battle for the circuit lead, defeating Louisville, 5 to 1, as the Mud Hens were losing to Kansas City, 7 to 4.

Kansas City unleashed a 18 hit attack on Toledo to chalk up a win for Ted Kleinhaus, who went the distance as Boone and Garland divided duties for the Hens.

In a fourth night game, St. Paul's local Saints binned out 20 hits, the evening's standout offensive performance, to defeat Indianapolis 8 to 3.

ROOSEVELT PREFERS FREE HITTING BALL

President Says He Likes Thrill of Clout

WICHITA, Kan., June 23.—President Roosevelt likes base hits in his bill games. Some fans may want their pitchers' battles but America No. 1 fan desires the thrill which comes with all free-hitting games. He so expressed himself in a letter to Raymond, Dimont, head of the National Semi-Pro Baseball congress, "wishing for the success" of the program of 45 state semi-pro baseball tournaments climaxed by the national championship series here August 13 to 23.

The Ohio state tournament will be staged at Canton under the direction of State Commissioner Paul Green.

Tenets interested in entering state program may communicate with state commissioner or write direct to National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress, Wichita, Kan.

MIKE JACOBS CALLS FOR FIGHT BETWEEN JAMES J. - SCHMELING

Says German Will Have To Meet Jimmy Before Louis.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 23.—Producer Mike Jacobs pulled the curtain on another act of his heavyweight show today and out on the stage, badge, nightstick and all—walked Officer James J. Braddock, late heavyweight champion of the world.

Of course, Impresario Jacobs may revise the skit on short notice, equally brief cablegram or a long-distance telephone call. But he insisted that if Max Schmeling, the German, first will have to meet Braddock, which appears to make Jersey Jim "Policeman" to the title he lost this week to the Brown Bomber.

This was the latest of a series of developments which broke out like a rash from the moment that Louis' right hand tipped Braddock over at Comiskey park last night.

Others were (1) that Lou offer of $25,000 per cent

gate receipts, with a $150,000

stake, to meet Jack (Doc)

Stacy, or Lee Harvey in W.

Stadium, London, next Aug.

(2) Braddock and Max Sta

playboy ex-heavyweight ch

will fight in August, either in Los Angeles.
